Area Prisoners Admit Beatings At Prison Farm

ANGOLA, La., Nov. 1 (AP)—Warden Maurice Sigler said today two young convicts admitted slugging two other inmates, one fatally, but said it was in defense against threats.

Sigler identified the pair as Theodore Reynolds, 19, serving four years for theft and aggravated escape from Ouachita Parish, and Gordon Carpenter, 18, serving nine years from Winn Parish for simple burglary.

Calvin L. King, 22, serving 10 years for armed robbery from Richland Parish, died at 5 a.m. today with a fractured skull sustained Wednesday night.

Sigler said Joseph Saucier, 18, serving five years for simple burglary from New Orleans, was "up and around" and apparently not seriously injured.

All were held in the young first offenders dormitory.

Used Angle Iron

"Reynolds confessed that he hit King one time with an angle iron brace he broke off a table," Sigler said, "and Carpenter said he hit Saucier one time with a piece of one-inch pipe approximately two feet long. He picked it up from a box holding athletic equipment."

"Their confessions were essentially alike, Reynolds ... stated that he and Carpenter had been threatened by these two other men."

The warden declined to elaborate further.

Sigler said the confessions came after a day-long questioning of all inmates in the medium security dormitory.

The warden said the guard in the medium security dormitory told him it happened about 11:30 p.m. Wednesday.

"The men were picking up dirty laundry — that's the time they wash socks and so forth — and the guard said all was quiet. Just

Judge Killed During Fight With Sheriff

HARRISON, Ark., Nov. 1 (AP)—A former county judge was shot to death today as he attempted to pistol-whip a sheriff outside an all-night cafe.

Aubrey Hickenbottom died instantly from five bullet wounds.

Sheriff Spence M. Holder said he shot Hickenbottom after the former judge slugged him in the back of the head with the butt end of a .45 caliber revolver. Officers found the revolver in Hickenbottom's hand, and a length of log chain in his pocket.

Later, a 16-man coroner's jury returned a verdict of "justifiable homicide." Coroner Norman Andrews said the verdict declared that Holder "within the bounds of doing his duty" when the shooting occurred.

Outside Restaurant

Officers said the shooting occurred outside an all-night restaurant where Holder, one of his deputies and a state trooper were having coffee. Hickenbottom was also inside the cafe.

A friend of the sheriff's arrived and called him outside to tell him that Hickenbottom was "after him" and had threatened his life.

Hickenbottom apparently followed the sheriff outside, and after a brief argument pulled the gun and swung it at the lawman. Holder recoiled backward and pumped five slugs into the 50-year-old former judge.

Hickenbottom, defeated for reelection in 1954, had a suit pending in court in which he was asking $17,500 damages from two city policemen alleging false arrest.

Body Of Crash Victim Found

GREENVILLE, Miss., Nov. 1 (AP)—Searchers found the body of a 22-year-old hotel cashier who drowned in an attempt to swim clear of the rented airplane which crashed in a Mississippi River chute during a joy ride yesterday.

Officers identified the woman as Mrs. Robert Smith and said her body was found late yesterday in about eight feet of water near the Greenville bridge.

The highway patrol said Mrs. Smith and three friends rented two airplanes for an afternoon of pleasure flying. Mrs. Smith flew with 2nd Lt. Dietmar Egel, 23, a German student at Greenville Air Force Base. The other couple was 2nd Lt. Wolfgang Witt, 22, also a German pilot, and Miss Delores Gentry, 22, a Greenville hotel waitress.

Little Rock NAACP Head Is Arrested

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 1 (UP)—The Rev. J. C. Crenshaw, 74-year-old Negro preacher and president of the Little Rock chapter of the NAACP, surrendered to police today on a charge of ignoring an order to produce the NAACP's membership rolls and list of financial contributors.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Mrs. L. C. Bates, president of the Arkansas chapter of the NAACP and a leader of the campaign that resulted in the integration of Central High School by nine Negroes under federal troop protection.

Mrs. Bates is in New York, making speeches and meeting with NAACP officials on organizational business. She was not sure whether she will go home Monday or Tuesday, but she said she is going home.

Calls For Records

Mrs. Bates and Crenshaw, pastor of the Mount Pleasant Baptist Church, were ordered arrested for violating a new city ordinance. The ordinance makes it mandatory for tax-free organizations to hand over their records in 15 days, upon demand.

Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann, who also is in New York, ordered the NAACP and three segregationist organizations to produce their records by last night. The segregationist organizations obeyed.

Crenshaw, a tall, well-dressed man who could pass for 30, heard about the order to his arrest on the radio Thursday night. He telephoned acting Police Chief Gene Smith he would be in today. He posted $300 bond after his appearance and went home.

Mrs. Bates Due Back

"The reason the Rev. Crenshaw voluntarily turned himself in was that he did not want any of his 'omers' or friends to think he is trying to dodge court service," Clarence A. Laws, field secretary for the Southwest Region of the NAACP, said.

Crenshaw also owns a dry-cleaning and tailoring business.

As for Mrs. Bates, Laws said: "She is expected back, probably late Monday. Mrs. Bates, I am sure, will not allow these arrests."

PENN AND NY CENTRAL

Biggest Roads Say Merger Considered

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (UP)—The two biggest rail lines in the world—the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central system—disclosed today they are considering a merger.

The merged railroad would create the greatest single transportation network in history with nearly 20,000 miles of track in 15 eastern and mid-western states and Canada.

Should the merger be agreed upon and approved by the road's stockholders and government regulatory groups, the rail combine would be the nation's 11th largest company with total assets of nearly six billion dollars.

At the present time Pennsylvania Railroad, with assets of more than three billion dollars, ranks 20th among the nation's billions companies. The Central with assets nearing three billion dollars ranks 28th.

Substantial Benefits

In a joint statement, James M. Symmes, president of the Pennsylvania, and Alfred E. Perlman, Central president, astounded the railroad and financial world with announcement of the proposed union. They said preliminary studies had indicated "that substantial benefits to all concerned may result from such a merger."

The two executives indicated that competition from other means of transportation combined with huge losses suffered by the nation's railroads in passenger operations were at the root of the merger plans. Some experts have put overall passenger losses at close to one billion dollars yearly.

Ike Accepts Offer To Go To Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 1 (UP)—President Eisenhower today accepted an invitation of Gov. Raymond Gary to visit Oklahoma, announcing he will come Nov. 13 and make a nationwide television speech from here on the subject of "Science and Security."

The President's visit will be a highlight of "Pride in Oklahoma Week" to be climaxed Nov. 17 when the Oklahoma-Notre Dame football game is televised nationally from Norman. The week marks the close of Oklahoma's Semi-Centennial celebration.

Eisenhower's talk will be the first in a series the President has planned to alert the nation to its scientific, economic and military resources.

Oklahoma's birthday observance has been built around a scientific development theme, under the slogan "Arrows to Atoms."

Will Fly To City

Some of the preliminary contacts before Eisenhower's decision to come here involved his special assistant, Bryce Harlow, a native Oklahoman and his brother, Dr. James Harlow, Oklahoma City executive vice-president of the Frontiers of Science Foundation. An aide said Bryce Harlow called to check with Gary before the President's statement accepting the invitation was released.

The White House said the President will fly here in the early afternoon and return to Washington either late that night or early the next day, Nov. 14.

The Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce reserved the Municipal Auditorium for the Eisenhower meeting. Gary, a Democrat, did not consult Oklahoma Republicans before inviting the President.

No Party Meeting

Republican State Chairman Carl Morgan, Guthrie said he learned of the plans only a short time before the public announcement was made.

"This is a non-partisan appearance," Morgan said. "He is coming here at the invitation of the governor. We were alerted in the roles of friends and not as Republicans."

"If we meet with him it will be as Oklahomans and not as Republicans. No party functions are scheduled. Naturally we are quite elated that he has seen fit to come to Oklahoma during our semi-centennial celebration."

Morgan said, "A lot of Democrats as well as Republicans are thrilled with this news."

Invitation Renewed

Morgan said he received a call from Bryce Harlow, advising him of the President's plans.

The Frontiers of Science foundation which Harlow's brother ramrods is working with the chamber of commerce in setting up the arrangements for Eisenhower's visit.

Gary first invited the President to visit Oklahoma during the Oklahoma City or Tulsa Semi-Centennial celebrations early in the summer. The President wrote him on May 21 that he did not believe he could accept.

The President announced plans for his series of speeches in a talk at New York Oct. 21, and Gary then renewed the invitation, wiring Eisenhower.

Gangster Shot By Other Thugs

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (UP)—A gun-packing gang figure, who beat an assassin to the draw and killed him four months ago, died today in a rain of rifle and shotgun blasts a few feet from his doorstep.

Three marksmen, hiding behind trees across the street, opened fire with two rifles and a shotgun on Willard O. Bates, 36, as he stepped from his white station wagon to greet his attractive brunette wife, Joan, 38.

The wife escaped the barrage by a near miracle, running into her home in suburban Lyons and hiding behind a refrigerator until the gunfire stopped.

She emerged to find her husband already dead, six rifle slugs in his chest, back and groin and his legs riddled with shotgun pellets. The killers had escaped, probably in a car driven by a fourth man. Bates never had time to draw the gun in his hip pocket.

The wife said it sounded like "a million shots." Police estimated at least 40 blasts were fired towards the house, battering Bates' car, shattering the picture window of his home, and peppering the interior of the house. Police described Bates as a tavern owner, ex-convict and suspected hiacker who may have been under underworld death sentence ever since he testified before a federal grand jury about a whisky hijacking.

The sentence was supposed to have been carried out last June 29, when four men waited for Bates outside his home.

Bates heard a warning growl from his dog just before he entered his car. He drew the .38 caliber pistol he always carried, yanked open the car door, and found Frank Mustari, 22, hiding in the back seat with a gun trained on him.

Bates killed Mustari with one shot. Three men waiting in a nearby car sped off and Bates' execution date was postponed until today.

Marshal May Be Exiled To Remote Post

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP)—Reports from Moscow tonight said Soviet armed forces are being purged of powerful friends of ex-Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov and the marshal himself is likely to be exiled to a remote military job.

Already, according to reports reaching Belgrade, he has been expelled from all his positions of power—from the top-level party Presidium, the party Central Committee and the Defense Ministry job.

When the Kremlin hierarchy gets around to revealing Zhukov's future and the reasons for his humiliation, other unensured reports said, it will make him the scapegoat for the Syrian-Turkish Brink-of-war scare, a crisis which Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev himself stirred up.

Tight Censors

Tight Moscow censorship stopped all but the vaguest hints about developments in the Soviet capital and the charges that are likely to be used to explain the hatchet job on Zhukov.

Reports about an army and navy purge and about the probability Zhukov would be sent to some remote spot, ranking with Outer Mongolia came from Irving R. Levine, NBC correspondent, who arrived in Helsinki, the Finnish capital, from Moscow today. He said the reports were circulating among Russians as well as foreign diplomats when he left Moscow a few hours before.

The reports coincided with an obvious cooling of tension over Syria. The issue was shelved in the U.N. General Assembly today when Syria agreed to drop without a showdown her demands for an investigation of alleged Turkish troop threats on her border.

Warns Of War

"Khrushchev had warned of impending war in the Middle East. His object was to fortify the in-

FORTIFICATION WEEK
Demonstrations
Grow In Syria

DAMASCUS, Nov. 1 (UP)—A drum-beating crowd of more than 5,000 Syrians, screaming anti-Eisenhower slogans and waving daggers, pistols and rifles in the air, today hailed the start of Damascus' "fortification" week.

Syrian Army commander Gen. Atif Bizri declared in a fighting speech that the slogan of the week was: "They shall never pass!"

"We are surrounded by threats," he said. "Times are difficult, the enemy stands at the gates and aggressive invaders are massing troops for the purpose of destroying our independence and freedom."

All Carry Axes
"So let us all carry axes, shovels and dig trenches around our city and build fortifications which will make our land a ring of fire in the aggressor's path."

This apparently was a reference to Turkey, which has been accused by Syria and Russia of plotting an attack on Syria with U.S. backing.

Fierce-eyed tribesmen in flowing cloaks jumped on the shoulders of their comrades waving rifles in the air while drums boomed and naked daggers glittered in a sea of upraised arms.

Even small children were present, clutching picks and shovels while their mothers marched in women's resistance corps groups to thunderous applause from the almost delirious crowd.

The demonstration, attended by President Shukri Kuwaty, Premier Sabri Assali and other government leaders, took place at Hastrara Village on the outskirts of Damascus where sandbagged trenches and other fortifications commanding the Aleppo Road already had been dug.

Obscene Photos
Found By Police

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 1 (AP)—City police today began questioning teenagers whose names were found on a list in a local apartment where a raid netted thousands of pornographic pictures.

The apartment was occupied by William C. Kemp, 44-year-old salesman arrested yesterday in Shreveport for a sex crime against a teen-age boy.

Shreveport police said with Kemp's arrest they uncovered a national network of dealers in lewd photographs.

They said they found in Kemp's motel room an album filled with names and addresses throughout the United States and Mexico which may be dealers for Kemp's photographs. The FBI is checking.

Raided Apartment
Baton Rouge police raided Kemp's apartment later and uncovered what Police Chief Shirley Arrighi described as the "largest number of filthy pictures our department as ever confiscated in its entire history."

Some 5,000 photographs and items of erotic material were found. Most of the still and motion pictures bore index numbers and were filed by number in about a dozen large loose leaf books. The index files bore brief descriptions of each picture.

The raid came at request of Shreveport police. Officers struck again a second time today because "we found so much evidence we had to leave half of it until this morning."

Found List
Officers also found a list of names and addresses similar to the one in the Shreveport motel, and a homosexual magazine.

589 SLAIN
Gangs Of Killers
In Paris Streets

PARIS, Nov. 1 (UP)—For months, murder has stalked the streets of Paris. Rival Algerian killer gangs have slain 589 persons in the French capital since the first of the year.

Yesterday, for the first time, the target was a Frenchman of note and now Parisians are up in arms, demanding that police do something about it. Newspapers say Paris, soon to welcome President Eisenhower and other NATO leaders, has become a city ruled by gun and knife.

Stunned by yesterday's sub-machine gun attack on Sen. Henri Bougeaud, the Executive Committee of the Radical Socialist party called for "repressive acts" against the Algerian gangs. The demand coincided with the third anniversary of the Algerian rebellion.

In the past week gangs shot a man dead in the midst of crowded Boulevard des Italiens, the city's main shopping street, and mowed down another one with a machine gun in a subway station at the height of the rush hour.

No one ever has been executed for any of these crimes, which until now have been regarded as squaring of accounts between rival Algerian nationalist organizations. Killing an Algerian is not regarded by most Frenchmen as a very serious crime.

The attack on Bougeaud was the first one made by the gangs on any prominent Frenchman. He is a wealthy industrialist who was

Marshal May Be Exiled To Remote Post

LONDON, Nov. 1 (AP)—Reports from Moscow tonight said Soviet armed forces are being purged of powerful friends of ex-Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov and the marshal himself is likely to be exiled to a remote military job.

Already, according to reports reaching Belgrade, he has been expelled from all his positions of power—from the top-level party Presidium, the party Central Committee and the Defense Ministry job.

When the Kremlin hierarchy gets around to revealing Zhukov's future and the reasons for his humiliation, other uncensored reports said, it will make him the scapegoat for the Syrian-Turkish Brink-of-war scare, a crisis which Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev himself stirred up.

Tight Censors
Tight Moscow censorship stopped all but the vaguest hints about developments in the Soviet capital and the charges that are likely to be used to explain the hatchet job on Zhukov.

Reports about an army and navy purge and about the probability Zhukov would be sent to some remote spot ranking with Outer Mongolia came from Irving R. Levine, NBC correspondent, who arrived in Helsinki, the Finnish capital, from Moscow today. He said the reports were circulating among Russians as well as foreign diplomats when he left Moscow a few hours before.

The reports coincided with an obvious cooling of tension over Syria. The issue was shelved in the U.N. General Assembly today when Syria agreed to drop without a showdown her demands for an investigation of alleged Turkish troop threats on her border.

Crippled Plane
Finally Lands
In Antarctica

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (UP)—The Air Force reported today a crippled C-124 Globemaster plane with 13 men aboard battled an Antarctic snowstorm on three engines for hours before breaking through a 10,000 foot overcast to land safely on the ice at McMurdo Sound.

The plane lost one engine while returning from a 1,600-mile round trip to Byrd station northeast of McMurdo. Pilot Capt. James Thomas, Masury, Ohio, reported he had to feather the No. 1 engine only 25 miles from the base. When he reached McMurdo minutes later, he discovered it was blanketed under a 10,000-foot overcast.

He descended to 7,000 feet before a heavy coating of ice formed over the entire plane and threatened to bring it down.

Lt. Col. Dixon J. Arnold, of San Angelo, Tex., commander of the 53rd Troop Carrier Squadron, ordered Thomas to take his plane above the overcast and to fly to the Navy's Hallett station 400 miles to the north.

Steve Cook Legion Post Commander

Steve Cook of Rayville was again selected to serve as Commander of Tommie Cook Post, No. 122, of the American Legion at Rayville. Mr. Cook has many years of service behind him in Legion activities and has held almost every position in the Rayville Post.

Ernest Brown, principal of the Rayville Elementary School, will serve as vice-commander. P. D. Harrington was installed as 2nd vice-commander and George T. Traylor will serve as 3rd vice-commander. Enoch Briley was chosen to fill the chair of the chaplain.

O. H. Hamilton Jr. of Lake Providence, presented 72 awards for consecutive membership, some of which were for 35 years. The Post now has a membership of 95.

Wagon Speaker

Following the installation of officers, John C. Wagon, department vice-commander of Farmerville, spoke to the members on the international situation and on the dangers of Communism.

Other speakers were O. N. Hamilton Jr., Fifth District Commander, Gordon Gibson, vice-commander from Monroe, and Alfred O. Ware, Area A Commander of Monroe.

Following the program the Legion joined the Auxiliary for a buffet supper, and included their guest, O. N. Hamilton Jr. of Lake Providence, who has the distinction of being a charter member of the Powell-Martin-Barrett Post at Lake Providence, with an unbroken record of membership.

Racial Trouble Erupts At School In New Jersey

PRINCETON, N.J., Nov. 1 (AP)—Extra police were stationed today at the Bridgeton High School after inter-racial fights near the school yesterday and Wednesday in which a student and the father of two children were injured.

Police Chief J. Fred Semple said the melee involved a few hoodlums, not more than 20 in all. He blamed the incidents on the hanging of a dummy in the school yard after a rumor that the dummy represented a Negro.

Kermit Smith, 17, was cut slightly with a screwdriver during an altercation at the school yesterday. Police said Smith, a white student, was cut by Louis Baker, of Station Rd., Newport, a Negro student.

On Wednesday, Horace Colson, 12, a Negro student, was arrested as a juvenile delinquent in the stabbing of Vincent Hitchner, 24. Police said Hitchner, married and the father of two, was with a group of white students when a fight erupted with a group of Negroes.

Hitchner, who is white, was stabbed twice with a pocketknife. Police said they found a hammer, a tire iron and a night stick in Hitchner's car. Hitchner was charged with loitering and carrying concealed weapons and released in $25 bail.

Semple said the dummy was brought to the schoolyard from a Woodstown football game. He said a rumor spread around the school that the dummy represented a Negro and as a result a certain amount of tension was generated among the students.

Formal Dedication Of NSC Library Held Yesterday

NATCHITOCHES (Special)—Librarians from throughout Louisiana, along with two visiting specialists in library science, were on the Northwestern State College campus yesterday to take part in the formal opening of the recently enlarged and renovated Scharie E. Russell Library building.

Ceremonies got underway at 4 p.m. in the Library Auditorium, with a capacity crowd for the speech-making.

'Open House'

An "open house" was held from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. Again, on Saturday, from 8 a.m. to 12 noon, the building will be open for "inspection" by the public.

Main address at the Friday meeting was delivered by Porter Kellam, director of libraries at the University of Georgia. President was Dr. George T. Walker, dean of administrations at NSC. A welcome address was given by President John S. Kyser.

Edmon Low, librarian at Oklahoma State University, and consultant for the recently completed Northwestern project, delivered brief remarks.

Being held in conjunction with the "open house" will be the third annual conference of College Librarians of Louisiana, scheduled to get underway at 9:30 a.m. today.

Jury Exonerates Man On Robbery Charges In Miss.

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Nov. 1 (AP)—A federal jury found small-time businessman Hardy McCormick innocent today of charges he conspired with two men to rob a bank in Laurel.

After deliberating about two hours, the jury returned a verdict at 4:20 p.m. (CST).

Charles L. Sullivan and Jesse Woodrow Easterling pleaded guilty to robbing the bank May 7. At McCormick's trial, Sullivan testified McCormick had joined the planning and had been promised 12½ per cent of the loot.

But McCormick, 48, of Forest, testified he never conspired to rob the bank.

Integration Try Put Off By Synod

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1 (AP)—The southern district of the Lutheran Church-Missouri synod today voted to delay a decision on church integration.

Delegates to the district conference, which has responsibility for Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida, decided to wait until there is more discussion of the matter. The issue now cannot be brought up until next year's conference.

The district, however, did vote that its board negotiate with the Lutheran Synodical Conference's missionary board to see if the district could supervise the Negro mission program in the South.

Delegates also instructed the board of directors to negotiate with the Negro conferences in the area to see what they feel about integration of the church system.

Officers installed today included the Rev. Edgar Homrighausen, New Orleans, president; the Rev. William G. Kennel, Montgomery, Ala., vice president; Lothar E. Kleinhaus, Shreveport, La., secretary; and board members Leslie Alenstien, Gadsden, Ala., Carl Walters, Shreveport, and the Rev. Armin Poster, Meridian, Miss.

Teenagers Face Forgery Charge

Three Negro teenagers last night were in the Ouachita parish jail, after being arrested on charges of forging and cashing U. S. Government checks.

Taken into custody by Post Office Inspector William Cain and Secret Service Agent Popper were two 17-year-old Bastrop Negroes, a boy and a girl, and another 17-year-old youth from Monroe.

Bond of $500 for each was set by U. S. Commissioner Louis Smith. Charged with cashing a forged check is Roosevelt Williams, 612 Breard Alley, Monroe.

Charlotte Marie Smith is charged with forging on a U. S. check and Johnny Maurice Johnson is being held for cashing a forged check. Both gave their address as 1424 Perry avenue, Bastrop, and were arrested Thursday night.

Williams was placed under custody yesterday.

They will be handled under the federal juvenile delinquency act, and trial will be held in the U. S. District Court for the Western District of Louisiana, at the court room in the post office building.

Patrol Gets New Members From School

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 1 (AP)—The Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol today reached maximum strength with the appointment of 21 graduates of the patrol's training school at Morton.

Commissioner of public safety Tom Scarbrough said an additional 15 graduates were placed in the active reserves to await assignment.

The 36 were graduated yesterday in the second major expansion of the patrol, Scarbrough said.

Each of the 21 new officers will work with a veteran officer, patrol chief Bill Hood said as he made the assignments. They included:

Hollis Furviance, former Canton policeman, to Vicksburg; Alfred Richburg of Gulfport, to Clinton; Hulon C. Fairley of Gulfport, to Terry; Charles W. Smith of Kil-michael, to Utieta; Harri Nowell of Louisville to Brandon; W. I. Howell of Vicksburg, to Mendenhall; and James E. Burney of Ackerman, to Grenada.

L. K. Howell of Houlika, to Durant; A. P. McBryde of Louisville, to Indianola; Charles A. Marx of Eupora, to Greenwood; Floyd Williams of Eupora, to Tunica; Jesse L. Frazier of Lafayette Springs, to Clarksdale; Fred G. Ogg of Okolona, to Coldwater.

Allen L. King of Starkville, to Fulton; Loy Wayne Gammel of New Albany, to Eupora; Earl Rover Poe of Calhoun City, to Philadelphia; Dewey Weems of Florence, to Louisville; Doyle W. Ferrell of Belmont, to Forest; Daniel E. Vernon of Meadville, to Poplarville; Sam Newman of Jackson, to Gulfport; and Normie L. Sullivan of Fayette, to Woodville.

On the active reserve list are: John Basinger, Coffeeville; William R. Bray, Starkville; Wilburn Carville, Oxford; Benford C. Collins, Clarksdale; Joe Clay, Louisville; Clyde Dearman, Hattiesburg; Daniel I. Davis, Mantee; Hal D. Fuller, Oxford; John Gregory, Jackson; Lyman C. McAnally, Belmont; Dan E. Smith, Columbus; J. Y. Smith, Grenada; Vondal L. Spigner, Marietta; Gerald Thompson, Pascagoula; and Emery Wages, Houston.

$1 Million Dorm Under Construction

BATON ROUGE (Special)—A wings, will house administrative offices.

The Baton Rouge firm of George A. Caldwell, which submitted the low bid of $894,455, is building the structure on a site north of the Field House.

Characterized by large windows covering most of the outer side of each room, the building will be constructed primarily of concrete. The area beneath the windows will be surfaced with ceramic tile, and the end walls will be of brick.

Edward Bentin of the Brocato and Bentin architectural firm handling the project, said one of the most striking features of the building will be the artistic exterior stairway at the ends of the wings. Supported by a single column, the stairs will have aluminum railings.

The flat-roofed dormitory will contain eight sections, each with a study hall. The building is being financed by bonds, and will pay for itself by student fees.

Students will pay $117 a semester, plus a $10 telephone charge.

Commissioner of public safety Tom Scarbrough said he thought "we would know if he were here."

Frank Wetzel, 35-year-old escapee from Willard, N. Y., State (mental) Hospital, reportedly told fellow patients he was heading for Mississippi to help his brother, William A. Wetzel.

Aide To Ike Was Advisor To Dave Beck

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (UP)—Merlyn S. Pitzele, one of President Eisenhower's 1952 campaign strategists, testified today that Teamster President Dave Beck paid him $5,000 a year for advice while he was chairman of the New York State Mediation Board.

He told the Senate Rackets Committee the payments, which totaled $15,000, were made through Nathan W. Shefferman, Chicago labor relations consultant whose anti-union activities are under committee investigation.

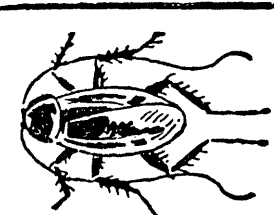

Pitzele, labor editor of Business Week Magazine, said former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who appointed him to the mediation board, was unaware of his services for Beck as was Gov. Averell Harriman, who kept him in the mediation post for a time.

He said he agreed to advise Beck in 1953 hoping he could help clean up the giant union. He quit in late 1955, he said, after becoming convinced that Beck could not or would not halt the rise of Teamster President-elect James R. Hoffa. Pitzele said he got a "belly-ful" of what he called "festered corruption" in the union.

Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.) brought out that Pitzele's position when the mediation board was a part-time job which paid him $25 a day when he served.

"You violated no law, but I'm not passing judgment on the propriety of what you did," Ives told Pitzele. "You and I know each other pretty well, and I'm a little surprised... that you didn't clear with the governor."

Traveled With Ike
Pitzele, who traveled on the Eisenhower campaign train in 1952 and contributed to Eisenhower's speeches on labor, declined to discuss his campaign role with reporters. He previously had been a labor adviser in Dewey's two presidential campaigns.

ASK BAR ASSOCIATION

Lawyers Urge Publicity Ban

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (AP)—A special committee of lawyers, judges and legal educators today urged the American Bar Assn. to retain its ban on the photographing, televising or broadcasting of court trials.

The committee contended that in spite of modern techniques, the presence of cameras and broadcasting equipment would "introduce extraneous influences which tend to have a detrimental psychological effect on the judge and jury as well as on the litigant, his lawyers and witnesses, and to divert them from the proper objectives of the trial."

However, the committee advocated that Canon 35 of the ABA Canons of Judicial Ethics be revised to permit judges to authorize photographic, radio and TV coverage of strictly ceremonial courtroom proceedings.

Among the first to criticize the report was Herbert Brucker, chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Hartford Editor

Brucker, editor of the Hartford (Conn.) Courant, said in Hartford that the proposed revision, like the present canon itself, is "built upon a premise that was true in 1937 but became false long before 1957."

"This premise," he said, "is that photography and broadcasting necessarily and automatically detract from dignity, distract witnesses, and degrade the court. This just isn't so."

"Under proper control the modern means of reporting are so unobtrusive that participants are virtually unaware of them."

The revision recommendation was made by a special committee of the American Bar Foundation, after 18 months of study.

The study, made at the request of the ABA, stemmed from criticism of the provisions of Canon 35 by representatives of the press and radio and TV broadcasters.

The committee's report will be presented for consideration by the ABA's House of Delegates—the policy-making body—at a meeting in Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 24-25.

The committee said the principal argument of the press and broadcasters was that the First Amendment guaranteeing freedom of the press entitled all forms of news media free access to the courtroom. These proponents also contended that modern techniques would cause little, if any, confusion or distraction.

Fallacious View

"This argument is based on a fallacious view of the nature of these freedoms," the committee said. It quoted from a 1950 decision of the U. S. Supreme Court which said:

"The right of the public to be protected, from the evils of conduct, even though First Amendment rights to persons or groups are thereby in some manner infringed, has received frequent and consistent recognition by this court."

The committee also said that the right of judges to exclude the public from certain trials has been upheld by the courts and added that the press can claim no rights not common to "every citizen."

The committee, in its 6,000-word report, gave these additional reasons why it believes courts should not permit broadcasting or photographing of actual trials:

1. Judges should be free from avoidable "distractions or disturbances that are inimical to judicial conduct." It would impose on a judge the "additional impossible functions of impressario, producer and censor" to make him responsible for determining what equipment should be allowed in the courtroom.

2. The judicial function occupies a unique place in our society and has none of the attributes of "ceremony, spectacle or entertainment."
3. A trial is no less public because of the exclusion of cameras and broadcasting equipment.
4. Judges should not be placed in the roles of censors.

Referring to a ruling of the Colorado Supreme Court last year which allows Colorado judges to decide whether portions or all of certain trials should be broadcast or photographed, the committee said:

First To Condemn

"Certainly, the press itself would be the first to condemn any such censorship of broadcasters as is implicit in the Colorado rule. Certainly no trial judge should be expected to interrupt the orderly trial of a case before him to ascertain whether the jurors or witnesses object to having their photographs taken, or to ascertain whether witnesses object to having their testimony broadcast."

In Denver, Chief Justice O. Otto Moore of the Colorado Supreme Court said every major premise of the bar committee for urging retention bans on photographing and broadcasting trials "has been demonstrated in Colorado to be without basis in actual fact."

Such trial reporting in Colorado, said Moore, has been in "unquestioned good taste" and has brought no complaints that justice was hampered.

Judge Philbrick McCoy of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county headed the committee. Other committee members are O. S. Colclough of Washington, D. C., dean of faculties at Washington University; Sheldon D. Elliott of New York, professor of law at New York University; James D. Fellers of Oklahoma City; Arthur Littleton of Philadelphia; Chief Judge Emory H. Miles of the Supreme bench of Baltimore City, Md.; and Justice Frank P. Weaver of the Supreme Court of Washington State.

At one time a Louisiana settlement, Los Adais served as Capitol of the Spanish Providence of Texas.

Arrest For Agitators

While President Eisenhower is trying to decide, "prayerfully" and belatedly, whether or not to remove the armed forces he sent illegally into Little Rock, Ark., the Little Rock city council is getting ready to bring about the arrest of the paid agitators who were responsible for having the troops brought in. The council ordered the arrest of all officers of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Little Rock.

Among those named for arrest were Mrs. L. C. Bates, state president of the NAACP, and Rev. J. C. Crenshaw, president of the Little Rock chapter. These two are the only known officers of the NAACP in Little Rock, since only the most violent agitators make their identities known. This parallels the methods of the Communist party in America. The active agitators must reveal their identities but the others keep their membership secret, thus violating the law, which says subversive organizations must provide authorities with lists of members.

Mrs. Bates is the woman who announced, after Arkansas Governor Orval E. Faubus had been ordered to withdraw the national guard from the Little Rock Central High School, that the nine Negro children would not be sent back to the school until President Eisenhower provided federal armed protection.

It was this statement, along with goading from Vice-President Richard Nixon and Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., that caused Eisenhower to lose his temper, and therefore his better sense of judgment, and to send in troops without legal authority.

Incidentally, Brownell later was made the scapegoat for this action. Brownell had tried to do everything Nixon told him to do, but a blunder had been made and some one had to take the blame, so Brownell "resigned," with no announced regrets from top government officials, and Nixon's closer friend, William P. Rogers, Jr., was named attorney general.

Mrs. Bates is so white that, in the north, she could easily cross the color line. This fits her for the role of paid agitator which she has assumed in Little Rock and elsewhere.

All of the nine Negro children in the Little Rock Central High School and all of the parents of these children are taking their orders directly from Mrs. Bates. Some of the children reportedly appealed to Mrs. Bates to let them drop out of Central High and return to their own excellent high school but this she refused to allow. Reportedly the parents of each of the nine students are receiving $1,000 from the NAACP and $500 is being paid to each student as a clothing allowance.

The NAACP is one of the organizations through which the Communist party in America is working. As such, it should be classed as subversive and therefore subject to the federal law requiring that membership lists be made public. The Little Rock city council acted on its own, however, and passed an ordinance requiring that membership lists be required. When this ordinance was not obeyed, the arrest of Mrs. Bates and Rev. Crenshaw was ordered.

Negro ministers in the south have been largely forced to carry on NAACP work in their churches. A few, like Crenshaw, have accepted this work willingly, but many of them have regretted politicalization of their churches.

The quicker the agitators such as Mrs. Bates and Crenshaw can be arrested and removed from the work of fomenting strife, the better.

'Bank' Holdup

It is likely that history was made when "a glib, gentlemanly" gunman held up a Spokane, Wash., blood bank and robbed it of five pints of high priority type blood reserved for use in emergencies. So far as is known, this is the first blood robbery in history.

Sometimes people are desperately in need of blood for transfusions but ordinarily they must work through physicians and legal channels for the reason that blood types must be matched. Apparently the Spokane robber was familiar with blood types. He called for "five pints of low titer type O negative blood," which has weak anti-bodies to other types and can be used on persons with other types of blood with less danger.

During World War II, movies were shown in the United States in which Germans were forcibly taking the blood of children to be used for transfusions for wounded German soldiers. Allegedly so much blood was taken from some of the children that they died. Whether these pictures presented a true situation or whether they were imaginary scenes made up for propaganda purposes seems uncertain.

It is to be hoped that laymen won't become so familiar with blood types that they will be able to go around staging blood holdups when they feel the need of transfusions.

It is bad enough to rob an individual of money or to rob a blood bank of blood but if the bandits should start taking their blood from individuals they could bring about a situation worse than the gruesome tales of vampire bats.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Opening Nights Are Worst For Those Who Enjoy Music

A fellow asked me why I am not swell; why I don't go to the opera on Monday nights when the swells go; why I go on Saturday afternoon when nobody goes but old women and little girls. So I told him that I go to the opera house to hear music and not to see weary men and listless women calculating the cost of dresses, diamonds and such trivia and making a financial statement out of what they see on a woman's back. As a matter of fact, were I on hand on such an occasion, I would wonder how many of the baubles are borrowed because it is quite fashionable for jewellers to lend a gaud to a dame with the hope that she might eventually induce her husband to buy it. After all, they're insured and a loss is as good as a sale, maybe better.

Lots of decent, musical people wait to buy tickets for the opening night, although if they had any sense they would avert it. Too many of the seats are bought by those who care nothing about music, who believe that Eugene O'Neill is a Greek from Cyprus, and "Aida" was written by somebody called Verdi who must be a friend of Frank Costello or why would he have a name like that? Well, let us not be snobbish about their ignorance. These people do know how to mke money, which is a virtue of some kind, and it is all done so that the figures can be presented to the Internal Revenue Service without fear or trepidation. Also some of them have their tax havens and profit havens and such places and are doing very well, thank you.

And one must respect ability where it is found but why go to the opera, to sit through the period of observation prior to the first act, maybe squirm through the first intermission and then go to a night club to listen to a sultry voice sing a jingle with lyrics that are degenerate, the acme of which is what rhymes with "spunk"? It is funny how history repeats itself. Back in the days of the Russian revolution, I used to see such bourgeois in Petrograd in the cafes chanting, listening to sing recite how Lenin and Trotsky will drop dead and the world will be restored to normalcy. So, most of the singers were shot and Lenin became a czar and the bourgeoisie ran away, if they could. Fashion sometimes becomes ridiculous as when American females have taken to tiaras because Queen Elizabeth has been a-visitng. Many faces and the tiara do not go together, but even their best friends won't tell them. The good old republican face resembles the tiara; it regards the tiara as the mark of royalty against which our forefathers fought and bled, or were they our forefathers? The question is, shall we all buy our wives tiaras and will they come in rhinestones or in synthetics and can they be bought on the installment plan?

This year, the opera opened with Tchaikovsky's "Eugene Onegin." Tchaikovsky is not too difficult to listen to. My children insist that they are musically more mature because they have passed through Tchaikovsky and now prefer Bach. Who knows they may one day listen to Bartok with pleasure. To prove a point, a record was played to show me that Honnegger can compose like Bach. So now I am educated. I listened last to "Eugene Onegin" in 1917 in Petrograd when the revolution was still revolutionary and not given over to the science of destruction. "Eugene Onegin" will ever be in my memory because of this association which even then meant for me the end of the world because it was the end of freedom. We were a sad audience because we all knew what would happen to us and to all the world. We were conscious of doom and the music is so beautiful. Perhaps we were too pessimistic in those days in Petrograd 40 years ago. But we were not cheap, for we did not have the money to be cheap. It is costly to be over-dressed and overjewelled and overanxious to be noticed and hungry for a line of type even if it is derogatory type.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT FINALISTS NEW ORLEANS — UP — Dr. A. D. Ostrich, New Orleans won the masters' individual tournament at the 18th annual Louisiana Contract Bridge Championships Thursday. Lead, Zinc Industry Must Seek Assistance

The domestic lead and zinc industry, once a lucrative segment of the all-powerful mining industry in the west, must go hat-in-hand next month to the federal government to plead for some relief from its economic woes. Faced with a world-wide overabundance of the two metals and a depressed market, the industry is once more seeking remedial aid from the Administration in the form of increased duties and quotas on foreign imports of lead and zinc. On November 19th, the U.S. Tariff Commission will hold a hearing on a petition filed by the Emergency Lead and Zinc Committee to invoke the so-called escape clause of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. Under this clause the Commission can recommend to the President that lead and zinc imports are hurting the domestic industry or both, are necessary to salvage the American producer. The industry's request is sure to arouse stubborn opposition both from the Department of State and advocates of liberal trade. They contend either action is sure to hurt United States relationships with friendly nations in the western hemisphere, especially Canada and Mexico. President Eisenhower in August, 1954, rejected a Tariff Commission recommendation that duties on lead and zinc be increased by 50 per cent over their present rate. It would have put the duty on slab zinc at 2.1 cents per pound and lead bullion at 2.5 cents. The President instead of approving the Tariff Commission's proposal, announced a huge Government stockpiling program of the two metals. Purpose of the stockpile plan was twofold, it would aid the ailing industry while at the same time appease the State Department and Free Trade interests. The program failed to solve the industry's problems. The bottom eventually dropped out of the market for lead and zinc, mine shut-downs increased and the stockpile soon became more than ample. Failure of the stockpile program to aid the industry caused the Administration to take a new approach to the situation. Instead of taking action under the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act the Administration tried to drop the problem in the lap of Congress. With the aid of mining area Congressmen the Administration proposed a sliding scale excise tax to be imposed on imported lead and zinc based on the existing market price of the two metals. The tax would have been in effect a duty on the metals applicable only when the market price for lead fell below 17 cents per pound and 14.5 cents per pound for zinc. Despite its backing by the Administration, the western mining states Congressional delegations and the industry itself, the tax bill was shelved by the all-powerful House Ways and Means Committee, which, under the Constitution, initiates revenue-raising legislation. Committee chairman Jere Cooper, Dem-Tenn., argued that the Administration already had the power to aid the industry through the escape clause of Section Seven of the bill allowing the President to impose quotas when an imported product is hurting a domestic industry vital to the National security. The Senate Finance Committee, in an eleven-hour attempt to curb lead and zinc imports, attached a rider to a House-passed mica bill during the closing days of Congress which would have had the same effect as the sliding scale measure. The mica bill is still pending in the Senate but all intents and purposes the lead and zinc rider is dead unless the House Ways and Means Committee changes its attitude. It is believed the Tariff Commission hearing on the lead and zinc hearing will be little more than routine as the industry's economic situation is so bad that even the President publicly acknowledged it at a news conference in August. After the apparent failure of his sliding scale excise tax bill the President admitted the measure would have established a precedent for establishing tariffs. He said the best way to handle the lead and zinc crisis was through the established method — review and recommendation by the commission and final action by himself. The President added that the industry's plight had been described to him as "so critical as not to allow the time for normal investigation by the Tariff Commission." White House observers have interpreted this to mean that as soon as the Commission makes its recommendation he will give it his ready approval. His concern for the industry and the fact that the situation has become worse instead of better leaves little doubt what action the Commission will take. Contrary to popular belief that the Eisenhower Administration has yet to impose a tariff restriction the record shows that the chief executive approved recommendations for duty hikes on imported watches and movements, bicycles, towing of flax hemp and clover seed. He has, however, rejected some 15 tariff boosts including lead and zinc, wood screws, clothes pins, scissors and shears and fish fillets. Whether the Commission and eventually the President will go along with the industry's announced plan also to seek quotas on lead and zinc remains to be seen. After the hearings start the industry will offer a proposed quota system on lead and zinc imports.

Losses In Stocks Hard On Dabblers

Back off from the Wall Street window sills, boys. It's only money. Starting in mid-July, the stock market lost almost 48 billion dollars in paper values in three months. A record. It didn't slip that far that fast even in 1929. It has been mighty hard on the dabblers. The fast-buck speculator who hope to jump in and out with a profit. The number of "little investors" has doubled in the postwar years. Of the ten million shareholders in American industry, two-thirds of them earn less than $7,500 a year. Does this vulnerability mean they have no business in the market? On the contrary, investors are the blood-and-muscle of our body economic. But it is important to distinguish between investors and speculators. The oft-repeated rule-of-thumb on the Street is "if you're going to need your money in the next ten years, don't put it in the stock market." You might have to sell when it's down. Like now. Speculation is big-league gambling. That's for the pros. Speculation in the stock market is a full-time business for men who can afford to lose. Not for you and me. Investment, on the other hand, is the surest way of hedging against the deflated dollar. As the dollar becomes worth progressively less, at least the intelligent, stubborn stock market investor will corner more dollars. I do not know if the recent decline touched bottom. Nobody knows. But history, our only reasonable yardstick for estimating the future, shows the long - haul trend is up. If you can afford to sit tight, you can't lose. President Eisenhower has elected, after conferences with economists Burns and Baruch, to stomp the nation with his confident smile. He will seek to fortify our faith in America's economic future. But we can seek and find our own faith in Commerce Department statistics which show the third quarter of this year was equal to or better than last year. The stock market shakeout may ultimately profit even those who lost in it. For one important thing, it will sober them up with the realization that Wall Street "runs both ways." It may discourage them from going in over their heads, encourage them rather to hedge in other investments, to balance themselves with some hard cash in the sock.

Country Parson

"We sometimes aren't thankful for things we've always had—it's hard to appreciate a self-starter if you've never had to crank a car."

Daily Devotions

Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are already to the harvest. —John 4:35. There is a tendency to slow up in religious endeavors in summer. Then we get in our cars and reel off the miles on weekends, seeking pleasure. We skip church and Sunday school and fall behind in the payment of church pledges. But the fields of the Lord are just as ripe for harvest in summer as at other seasons. And we still need to heed the commandment, "Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy." Gracious God, help us to be not weary in well doing. May we reserve time for serving Thee in all seasons. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

Long Prayers Not Best For Preacher

Rev. Sam illustrates a common fault of many modern clergymen. He fails to realize that a public speaker loses his audience when he like them shut their eyes. Jesus himself was a heathen practice. The Lord's Prayer which Christ gave us, takes less than 30 seconds to utter: Case W-336: Rev. Sam G., aged 31, is a popular clergyman. "Dr. Crane, we like him very well," one of his deacons informed me. "And he preaches mighty fine sermons. But a number of our people have indicated they think he has one fault. "And that's his praying. Why, he wastes as much as 7 or 8 minutes to his opening prayer, yet his sermon is only supposed to run 20 minutes. "Our folks don't like such long prayers. And I admit they don't appeal to me, either. So are we wrong or is he in error?" Beware Long Prayers The usual clergyman loses the attention of his audience when he engages in long prayers. For the congregation generally bow their heads and close their eyes, thus blotting out the sight of the leader. As a result, they no longer see any of his gestures. And they miss the flash of his eyes and the facial expressions that help hold the attention of an audience. When a parson is preaching, he is combining vision and sound, as does TV. But when he prays, he cuts off the TV and reverts to sound alone, which hampers his effectiveness, for the visual element is now gone. From the viewpoint of public platform psychology, therefore, any prayer over one-minute in duration is likely to reduce the preacher's effectiveness. Jesus even vetoed long, public prayers (Matthew 6:7): "But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking." Original Prayers Most clergymen indulge in trite or overworked phrases when they do pray. These lack originality, so the audience meanwhile tends to daydream. Even when group prayer is invoked, as by recitation of the Lord's Prayer, the average person hardly notices what he is uttering, for such mechanical phrases have been memorized for so many years that a person's mind wanders elsewhere, even while repeating phrases. It would thus be helpful if parents would encourage more originality in the prayers they teach their children. And let the youngsters create their own original supplications. For then the youngster has his attention riveted on his prayer and is not daydreaming about other things. The same need for originality is very evident as regards the prayer of professional religionists, such as the clergymen. Although they endeavor to present original sermons, they tend to "coast" all their lives on a few trite mechanical prayers, repeated with very little change from one Sabbath to the next. Open-Eyed Prayers Prayer has too long been confused with bowed heads and closed eyes. A sermon is a continual open-eyed type of prayer when the speaker keeps the minds of his congregation on spiritual matters. So it is far better to make your formal opening or closing prayer a short, 30-second utterance and salvage the remaining time for a dramatic, soul-lifting sermon. At the hospital sick bed or in private conferences, longer prayers are more valuable than in public audiences. Listen to Billy Graham or Bishop Sheen on radio or TV and you'll find a good pattern for a brief, attention-attracting prayer. Jesus never indulged in long public prayers though he probably preached dramatic sermons that lasted more than an hour. White Collar Thief Is Most Successful

Next Tuesday John R. Cooney, retired president of the Loyal Group of Insurance Companies, will be sentenced by a New Jersey court on one of six indictments charging him with embezzlement of $262,206 in company funds. Yet only a few months ago Cooney was a widely respected and envied citizen. He was a white collar executive of high rank, earning a salary of $85,000 a year when he retired in 1956 on an annual pension of $41,000. He was in every sense a trusted man. Yet Cooney pulled off a theft which makes most of the old pros in crime appear timid babes in comparison. And by so doing, Cooney pointed up a startling fact about the American business scene today: America's white collar thief is now far more proficient in crime than the professional crooks and the amount he is stealing is skyrocketing year after year. In 1956 alone, according to a just-published study by "Fortune" magazine, white collar thieves stole at least $500 million. And some experts insist the annual embezzlement loss runs to a dizzying $3-billion, for a vast number of the thefts go undetected or are hushed up. By contrast the FBI calculates that all the nation's burglars, pickpockets, armed robbers and auto thieves managed to steal only $440 million last year—under the most conservative estimate of the take by the white collar embezzlers. As many as 1,000,000 businessmen were victimized by embezzlers in 1956, and the number of victims also is rising by the year. And there is a further irony. It is the smaller businessman who is the easiest target. He who can least afford to be a victim is the one who is most convinced it couldn't possibly happen to him. Cooney is not an average businessman acquaintance but the odds are shockingly big that without being aware of it I've met an embezzler or two in my business career, and the odds are so high you. For as Fortune draws the picture of the typical embezzler... He is a man in his thirties, married with one or two children. He lives in a respectable neighborhood, drives a medium-priced car and once in a great while travels on a weekend. He usually looks like a good mixer, is active in the community and, as often as not, is a church officer. He takes only an occasional drink. And in his record are a couple of job promotions because he has been around the firm for a while, has slightly better than average ability, works hard and shows willingness to accept responsibility. In short, he is the fellow next door, the man down the hall — that nice guy who never would take a penny that didn't belong to him. Yet this "nice guy" steals on a grand scale because he needs "a few extra dollars," he doesn't dare disclose the reason for his need (gambling, a foolish venture, a mistress), and thus he can't get the money he needs in the usual legitimate manner. This respectable appearing thief keeps taking more and more of his employer's money because his employer gives him the opportunity to steal. This "fellow next door" gets in deeper because he doesn't admit to himself that he is stealing; as he figures it, he is only borrowing and someday he will put it all back. The very fact that the white collar thief is presumed to be as honest as the vast majority of American workers is what makes him the most dangerous. He has ruined not only individuals and businesses but also governments. The very fact that most businessmen hate to admit they made an error on an employee is a key factor behind the mushrooming growth of white collar crime. Few embezzlers get the publicity Cooney has had or the punishment that presumably awaits him. An army of white collar thieves is operating inside of America's business firms as I write this. History indicates half of their embezzlements will go undetected; only one out of 10 discovered defaulters will ever be brought to court. Unless businessmen awaken to the peril of the embezzler and of concealing his crime, I guess if a pro in crime wants a more successful and safer career, the first "tool" he should buy is a gray flannel suit.

Arrest For Agitators

While President Eisenhower is trying to decide, "prayerfully" and belatedly, whether or not to remove the armed forces he sent illegally into Little Rock, Ark., the Little Rock city council is getting ready to bring about the arrest of the paid agitators who were responsible for having the troops brought in. The council ordered the arrest of all officers of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Little Rock.

Among those named for arrest were Mrs. L. C. Bates, state president of the NAACP, and Rev. J. C. Crenshaw, president of the Little Rock chapter. These two are the only known officers of the NAACP in Little Rock, since only the most violent agitators make their identities known. This parallels the methods of the Communist party in America. The active agitators must reveal their identities but the others keep their membership secret, thus violating the law, which says subversive organizations must provide authorities with lists of members.

Mrs. Bates is the woman who announced, after Arkansas Governor Orval E. Faubus had been ordered to withdraw the national guard from the Little Rock Central High School, that the nine Negro children would not be sent back to the school until President Eisenhower provided federal armed protection.

It was this statement, along with goading from Vice-President Richard Nixon and Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., that caused Eisenhower to lose his temper, and therefore his better sense of judgment, and to send in troops without legal authority.

Incidentally, Brownell later was made the scapegoat for this action. Brownell had tried to do everything Nixon told him to do, but a blunder had been made and some one had to take the blame, so Brownell "resigned," with no announced regrets from top government officials, and Nixon's closer friend, William P. Rogers, Jr., was named attorney general.

Mrs. Bates is so white that, in the north, she could easily cross the color line. This fits her for the role of paid agitator which she has assumed in Little Rock and elsewhere.

All of the nine Negro children in the Little Rock Central High School and all of the parents of these children are taking their orders directly from Mrs. Bates. Some of the children reportedly appealed to Mrs. Bates to let them drop out of Central High and return to their own excellent high school but this she refused to allow. Reportedly the parents of each of the nine students are receiving $1,000 from the NAACP and $500 is being paid to each student as a clothing allowance.

The NAACP is one of the organizations through which the Communist party in America is working. As such, it should be classed as subversive and therefore subject to the federal law requiring that membership lists be made public. The Little Rock city council acted on its own, however, and passed an ordinance requiring that membership lists be required. When this ordinance was not obeyed, the arrest of Mrs. Bates and Rev. Crenshaw was ordered.

Negro ministers in the south have been largely forced to carry on NAACP work in their churches. A few, like Crenshaw, have accepted this work willingly, but many of them have regretted politicalization of their churches.

The quicker the agitators such as Mrs. Bates and Crenshaw can be arrested and removed from the work of fomenting strife, the better.

'Bank' Holdup

It is likely that history was made when "a glib, gentlemanly" gunman held up a Spokane, Wash., blood bank and robbed it of five pints of high priority type blood reserved for use in emergencies. So far as is known, this is the first blood robbery in history.

Sometimes people are desperately in need of blood for transfusions but ordinarily they must work through physicians and legal channels for the reason that blood types must be matched. Apparently the Spokane robber was familiar with blood types. He called for "five pints of low titer type O negative blood," which has weak anti-bodies to other types and can be used on persons with other types of blood with less danger.

During World War II, movies were shown in the United States in which Germans were forcibly taking the blood of children to be used for transfusions for wounded German soldiers. Allegedly so much blood was taken from some of the children that they died. Whether these pictures presented a true situation or whether they were imaginary scenes made up for propaganda purposes seems uncertain.

It is to be hoped that laymen won't become so familiar with blood types that they will be able to go around staging blood holdups when they feel the need of transfusions.

It is bad enough to rob an individual of money or to rob a blood bank of blood but if the bandits should start taking their blood from individuals they could bring about a situation worse than the gruesome tales of vampire bats.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Opening Nights Are Worst For Those Who Enjoy Music

A fellow asked me why I am not swell; why I don't go to the opera on Monday nights when the swells go; why do I go on Saturday afternoon when nobody goes but old women and little girls. So, I told him that I go to the opera house to hear music and not to see weary men and listless women calculating the cost of dresses, diamonds and such trivia and making a financial statement out of what they see on a woman's back. As a matter of fact, were I on hand on such an occasion, I would wonder how many of the bawlers are borrowed because it is quite fashionable for jewellers to lend a gaud to a dame with the hope that she might eventually induce her husband to buy it. After all, they're insured and a loss is as good as a sale, maybe better.

Lots of decent, musical people wait to buy tickets for the opening night, although if they had any sense they would avert it. Too many of the seats are bought by those who care nothing about music, who believe that Eugene O'Neill is a Greek from Cyprus, and "Aida" was written by somebody called Verdi who must be a friend of Frank Costello or why would he have a name like that? Well, let us not be snobbish about their ignorance. These people do know how to make money, which is a virtue of some kind, and it is all done so that the figures can be presented to the Internal Revenue Service without fear or trepidation. Also some of them have their tax havens and profit havens and such places and are doing very well, thank you.

And one must respect ability where it is found but why go to the opera, to sit through the period of observation prior to the first act, maybe squirm through the first intermission and then go to a night club to listen to a sultry voice sing a jingle with lyrics that are doggerel, the acme of which is that June rhymes with moon? But what rhymes with "sputnik"? It is funny how history repeats itself. Back in the days of the Russian revolution, I used to see such bourgeois in Petrograd in the cafes chanting, listening to singers recite how Lenin and Trotsky will drop dead and the world will be restored to normalcy. So, most of the singers were shot and Lenin became a czar and the bourgeoisie ran away if they could. Fashion sometimes becomes ridiculous as when American females have taken to tiaras because Queen Elizabeth has been avisting. Many faces and the tiara do not go together, but even their best friends won't tell them. The good, old republican face resembles the tiara; it regards the tiara as the mark of royalty against our forefathers fought and bled, or were they our forefathers? The question is, shall we all buy our wives tiaras and will they come in rhinestones or in synthetics and can they be bought on the installment plan?

This year, the opera opened with Tchaikovsky's "Eugene Onegin." Tchaikovsky is not too difficult to listen to. My children insist that they are musically more mature because they have passed through Tchaikovsky and now

Lead, Zinc Industry Must Seek Assistance

The domestic lead and zinc industry, once a lucrative segment of the all-powerful mining industry in the west, must go hat-in-hand next month to the federal government to plead for some relief from its economic woes.

Faced with a world-wide overabundance of the two metals and a depressed market, the industry is once more seeking remedial aid from the Administration in the form of increased duties and quotas on foreign imports of lead and zinc.

On November 19th, the U.S. Tariff Commission will hold a hearing on a petition filed by the Emergency Lead and Zinc Committee to invoke the so-called escape clause of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act.

Under this clause the Commission can recommend to the President that lead and zinc imports are hurting the domestic industry and either higher duties, quotas or both, are necessary to salvage the American producer.

The industry's request is sure to arouse stubborn opposition both from the Department of State and advocates of liberal trade. They contend either action is sure to hurt United States relationships with friendly nations in the western hemisphere, especially Canada and Mexico.

President Eisenhower in August,

1954, rejected a Tariff Commission recommendation that duties on lead and zinc be increased by 50 per cent over their present rate. It would have put the duty on slab zinc at 2.1 cents per pound and lead bullion at 2.5 cents.

The President instead of approving the Tariff commission's proposal, announced a huge Government stockpiling program of the two metals. Purpose of the stockpile plan was twofold, it would aid the ailing industry while at the same time appease the State Department and Free Trade interests.

The program failed to solve the industry's problems. The bottom eventually dropped out of the market for lead and zinc, mine shut-downs increased and the stockpile soon became more than ample.

Failure of the stockpile program to aid the industry caused the Administration to take a new approach to the situation. Instead of taking action under the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act the Administration tried to drop the problem in the lap of Congress.

With the aid of mining area Congressmen the Administration proposed a sliding scale excise tax to be imposed on imported lead and zinc based on the existing market price of the two metals.

The tax would have been in effect a duty on the metals applicable only when the market price for lead fell below 17 cents per pound and 14.5 cents per pound for zinc.

Despite its backing by the Administration, the western mining states Congressional delegations and the industry itself, the tax bill was shelved by the all-powerful House Ways and Means Committee, which, under the Constitution, initiates revenue-raising legislation.

Committee chairman Jere Cooper, Dem-Tenn., argued that the Administration already had the power to aid the industry through the escape clause of Section Seven of the bill allowing the President to impose quotas when an imported product is hurting a domestic industry vital to the National security.

The Senate Finance Committee, in an eleven-hour attempt to curb lead and zinc imports, attached a rider to a House-passed mica bill during the closing days of Congress which would have had the same effect as the sliding scale measure. The mica bill is still pending in the Senate but for all intents and purposes the lead and zinc rider is dead unless the House Ways and Means Committee changes its attitude.

It is believed the Tariff Commission hearing on the lead and zinc hearing will be little more than routine as the industry's economic situation is so bad that even the President publicly acknowledged it at a news conference in August.

After the apparent failure of his sliding scale excise tax bill the President admitted the measure would have established a precedent for establishing tariffs. He said the best way to handle the lead and zinc crisis was through the established method — review and recommendation by the commission and final action by himself.

The President added that the industry's plight had been described to him as "so critical as not to allow the time for normal investigation by the Tariff Commission."

White House observers have interpreted this to mean that as soon as the Commission makes its recommendation he will give it his ready approval. His concern for the industry and the fact that the situation has become worse instead of better leaves little doubt what action the Commission will take.

Contrary to popular belief that the Eisenhower Administration has yet to impose a tariff restriction the record shows that the chief executive approved recommendations for duty hikes on imported watches and movements; bicycles, towing of flax hemp and clover seed. He has, however, rejected some 15 tariff boosts including lead and zinc, wood screws, clothes pins, scissors and shears and fish fillets.

Whether the Commission and eventually the President will go along with the industry's announced plan also to seek quotas on lead and zinc remains to be seen. After the hearings started the industry will offer a proposed quota system on lead and zinc imports.

River Cleanup Foreseen By Area Solon

Rep. Jim Pomeroy from County, Ark., said in El Dorado this week he believed the Ouachita River will be "cleaner up" to make water available for industry and domestic uses in Arkansas and north Louisiana.

Pomeroy, speaking at a civic club luncheon, declared that unless pollution of the river is halted voluntarily or by state action, he anticipates federal action under Act 660.

He said Louisiana had already filed a formal complaint under the act to halt pollution which he said causes the Ouachita to have twice as much salinity as sea water at the point where it flows across the Arkansas-Louisiana state line. Pomeroy characterized as bitterly disappointing the first hearing of the Arkansas Pollution Control Commission at which the City of Monroe entered formal protest saying that pollution of the stream makes water in a domestic reservoir unusable by Monroe.

Pomeroy said the commission hearings were set up for the purpose of hearing constructive suggestions from oil operators who maintain stripper wells with a high salt water production ratio along the Ouachita and its tributaries.

Biddings Opened Road Projects

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The Louisiana Department of Highways will receive bids here November 13 on two projects, one each in Terrebonne and Franklin parishes.

R. B. Richardson, director of highways, said the Terrebonne project calls for construction of a timber trestle and L-beam bayscule span bridge over Bayou Dularge. The Franklin parish project calls for 10,250 cubic yards of pit run gravel, furnished, mined, loaded, hauled and spot-dumped on certain public roads.

Sealed bids will be opened at 10 a.m. and the Highway Department reserves the right to reject any or all bids submitted, Richardson said.

Observance Places Cats In Limelight

By MARY ANNE CORPIN

One "International" Week that will be noted in Iron Curtain and Free countries alike starts tomorrow, and continues through next Saturday.

Cat Week International, planned for two years by the American Feline Society Inc. is a world wide project, to increase each individual's awareness of the high value of these members of the animal world.

The Society headquarters in New York City even has an adoption service, ready to provide a cat, plus the necessary instructions on care and training. Its main purposes are to prevent abuse of the friendly little animals, and to offer protection, food, medical attention, and advice for the care of cats. In addition, it provides free information for research specialists in many fields, including the government, radio, TV, advertising agencies and the general public.

During the International week the membership is stressing usefulness of cats and the pleasure which results from owning one of these four-footed felines.

Clean Animal. A clean animal, the cat spends hours grooming itself and "taking its daily bath." Its rat and mouse extermination activities are well-known, and the famed Gardenia, Ouachita parish library's cat, rescued that institution's magazines from the rodents, by polishing off or scaring out all the rats.

Cats, although individualists, might also be known as one of the best friends of man. Any person who has ever owned a cat and given it kind treatment can recall how the small animal offered the type of friendship that calls for respect.

Ignore or mistreat a cat, and it will act much the same as any human would - give you the icy treatment until the incident wears off.

One area where blame is wrongly laid on the cat family is destruction of birds. An extensive survey in 1955 using reports of highway patrol laboratories and individual veterinarians, revealed the stomach contents of cats killed on the highways. . . and although mouse, rabbit, grasshopper and other types of "food" were found in the analysis, no bird meat or feathers were discovered.

Since birds have 160 degree vision in each eye, they can see a cat coming before the cat pounces, and their ability at rapid flight gets them off the ground before Miss Cat is able to make the catch. Sick birds are an exception.

Main Cause. Mainly, birds are destroyed by spraying of land by crop - dusters, industrial fumes and stream pollution.

target practice by hunters who are beginners, and destruction of dense tree areas for new housing developments. The Society is also stressing that the fear of cat scratches is over-emphasized by some persons. Actually, any scratch requires cleansing with soap and water and application of an antiseptic.

With these provisions, there is little reason for fear. . . and less reason to expect a scratch if you don't torment the cat into defending itself. So if you have a purring, long-tailed little feline around the house, . . . or if you merely sight one on the street, treat it kindly - this is its special Week.

FLAREUP OF REPORTS

California Governor Silent On Race Plans

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 1 (AP) — Goodwin J. Knight, California's absent and ailing governor, remained mysteriously silent today on a new flareup of reports that he will pull out of the race for re-election and run instead for the U.S. Senate.

Shocked supporters besieged his office with calls—some pleading for a clear-cut answer, others wondering why he doesn't speak up.

"No comment" was the only word relayed from the Republican governor's out-of-state retreat. There was no direct statement by Knight himself on apparently well-grounded stories published by San Francisco and Los Angeles newspapers.

The governor's Capitol staff, obviously distraught, refused to disclose his whereabouts. Knight left here secretly Monday, accompanied only by his wife and political secretary. In a statement then reaffirming his candidacy for governor, he said he had been weakened by flu and exhausted by long hours on the job and had been ordered by his doctor to rest.

Unopposed Candidate. Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown, unopposed Democratic candidate for governor, denounced Knight's asserted shift as "a cynical deal engineered by a grasping reactionary with eyes fixed on the White House."

Sen. William F. Knowland, Knight's Republican opponent, denied there was any "deal" to give him a clear field in the GOP primary next June. He said if the

LSU Stages Research In Sugar Cane

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Better methods of sampling and evaluating sugar cane are being sought by researchers at the Audubon Sugar Factory on the Louisiana State University campus as sugar cane grinding season gets into full swing.

They are also testing new cane varieties, aiding manufacturers of insecticides and fungicides in testing their products, and continuing research on the utilization of sugar cane bagasse.

Dr. Arthur G. Keller, professor of chemical engineering and sugar specialist at LSU, said the research on sampling methods should be beneficial both to cane growers and millers, who desire greater accuracy in grading sugar cane.

He pointed out that finding improved methods of sampling sugar cane sometimes takes years. However, the LSU sugar experts are considering new ideas that will give larger and more representative samples than the present procedure of hand picking stalks from each load.

Speed a Factor. Since speed is an important factor in sampling cane, a faster method of getting samples and grinding them for inspection is desirable, Dr. Keller said. The two-year research is being supported by the Marketing Research Division of the USDA.

The world's largest sugar mill operated solely for research, the Audubon Factory is able to make studies that other mills are unable to do because they must concentrate almost entirely on production.

Another phase of the research by the chemical engineering department is the milling of new, promising cane varieties developed at Canal Point, Fla., by the USDA and grown in Louisiana.

The LSU researchers are also cooperating with manufacturers of insecticides and fungicides in determining whether new chemicals have any effect on the eating quality of sugar. Cane treated with various chemicals is milled at the factory, and the final products studied in laboratories of the manufacturers.

Learn Principles. The Audubon Sugar Factory is a laboratory in which 47 students majoring in chemical engineering, sugar technology and sugar engineering spend about two months learning the principles of chemical plant operation and research.

Eight of the 47 are from foreign countries, including Formosa, Burma, France and nations in the Caribbean and Latin America.

Two graduate students working on their Ph. D. degrees are contributing to certain phases of the research as partial requirement for their degrees.

Dr. Keller explained that the students are learning basic principles of chemical engineering which apply to other industries also. Not all of the students will go into the sugar industry, but many will find jobs in oil refineries, rubber factories and other plants.

The two-month grinding season at the LSU factory will conclude just before the Christmas holidays.

Building Permits Show Drop Here

Estimated cost of construction shown in building permits during October was about $75,000 lower than September's total, but the number of projects remained approximately the same.

Building Inspector Sam H. Aul reported a total of $375,746 for October. This was the cost placed on a total of 70 jobs taking in residential and commercial construction, additions, alterations and repairs.

Also in last month's report was the listing of three buildings moved and three demolished.

Permits were granted for construction of 29 dwelling units for a total of $244,216, one barber shop at $3,000, two store buildings at $12,000, one shop building at $5,000, one used car lot office at $500, one shed at $600; 26 additions, alterations and repairs to dwellings at $24,050, and six additions, alterations and repairs to non-residential structures at $49,500.

IN ALGERIA

Three Years Ago Rebels Rode High

ALGIERS, Nov. 1 (AP) — Three years ago today, nationalist bands from Algeria's Aures Mountains swooped down on weak French garrisons and European settlements, killing and burning.

Their banners carried the red star and crescent, symbols of the Front of National Liberation — FLN—which vowed to free Algeria — four times the size of France — from French rule.

Today, a 400,000-man regular French army aided by local militia, security troops and self-defense units numbering at least 300,000 men, controls most of the country at gunpoint.

The rebellion simmers on with no practical solution in sight. France pays five million dollars a day to keep its army in Algeria.

"We cannot move a single soldier for many years," admits Gen. Jacques Allard, commander of the Algiers Army Corps.

The Algerian rebellion is largely responsible for the sagging French economy and continuous political crises.

Number of Reasons. There are a number of reasons France does not want to leave Algeria.

Sahara oil, with proper exploitation might supply France's annual oil needs. Algeria has 1,300,000 European settlers, most of them living in Algeria for generations. "We shall all be slain if the army leaves" is a popular theme of Europeans. Some have taken part in bloody riots during which Muslims—mostly innocent—were killed.

There is also the problem of morale that French withdrawal would cause.

France was forced to abandon Indochina after a seven-year war. Then came Morocco and Tunisia. To abandon Algeria would be admitting France's inability to cope with problems other countries solved in overseas territories.

Withdrawal would also point out the inefficiency of the French military against ill-equipped, untrained rebel bands, perhaps 25,000 men.

Despite Success. Despite success in stemming city terrorism and restricting rebel bands to mountain and frontier areas, the rebellion is as much of a problem today as it was three years ago.

It took an enormous effort and 10 million dollars to seal most of the Tunisian frontier with minefields and electric wire to prevent the rebels from getting arms and supplies from across the border.

Similarly, the Moroccan frontier in the west was sealed by mines and an efficient radar network.

"Militarily, we are the masters," said a French staff officer.

Gen. Raoul Salan, French military commander in Algeria has ordered his troops to "conquer the heart of the Moslem population."

This was coupled with a program of construction and sanitary improvement aimed at raising the living standard of the 8½-million Moslem population.

Bombers Expand Low Flying In Many New Areas

B-47 bombers of the Strategic Air Command are expanding their low-level navigation training missions to many new areas of the country.

Exact routes have been selected and the exercise will start next week, the Air Force has announced.

The missions will be flown at altitudes down to 500 feet above the ground to exercise SAC crews in the problems of low-level navigation. Although the six-jet B-47 is one of the world's fastest medium bombers, it is not a supersonic aircraft. No sonic booms will be heard as a result of these flights.

The exercise routes, approved by the CAA, have been planned to avoid heavily populated areas and flight obstructions. All flying will be done in daylight under clear weather conditions. Routes have been checked by slower propeller-driven aircraft before the B-47s fly the course.

The low level exercise is already being carried out in other areas of the country. It is part of Strategic Air Command's continuing program to maintain a capability, the capability to perform long-range nuclear striking missions under all conditions of altitude and weather.

In November, 1848, General Zachary Taylor, hero of the Mexican War and planter from near Baton Rouge, was elected president of the United States.

Miss. Solon Urges Boost For Teachers

TAYLORSVILLE, Miss., Nov. 1 (AP) — Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.), saying teachers salaries "are a national disgrace," today called for a general, substantial increase to attract and hold better teachers.

In addition, Stennis said, "our tax laws must be revised to assure that summer school instruction required of our teachers is allowed as a tax deductible item."

The senator was the main speaker at ceremonies honoring Miss Dorrance Eaton for 40 years a teacher in Taylorsville schools. She retired last April.

Praising school teachers as the backbone of the public school system, Stennis called for full cooperation by all citizens to provide and maintain better schools and assure the best possible education and opportunities for children.

Need For Scholarships. Stennis said there also is a great need for increased educational opportunities in the form of scholarships and fellowships, "not only for students generally but specifically for those within the teaching profession."

On a nationwide basis, Stennis said, 227,000 more teachers are needed. This year, 150,000 classrooms were needed despite the fact there were more than a million classrooms available in September.

"More of our revenues must be channeled into education," he said. "Under present conditions, however, federal aid is certainly not the answer to our problem."

"Federal control and interference in the classroom level of work will inevitably follow financial assistance to the public school system."

Exhaust Every Source. "We must exhaust every resource and means of revenue. We must and we will stand firm in defending our public school system from outside interference, in the guise of financial assistance or otherwise."

River Cleanup Foreseen By Area Solon

Rep. Jim Pomeroy from County, Ark., said in El Dorado this week he believed the Ouachita River will be "cleaner up" to make water available for industry and domestic uses in Arkansas and north Louisiana.

Pomeroy, speaking at a civic club luncheon, declared that unless pollution of the river is halted voluntarily or by state action, he anticipates federal action under Act 660.

He said Louisiana had already filed a formal complaint under the act to halt pollution which he said causes the Ouachita to have twice as much salinity as sea water at the point where it flows across the Arkansas-Louisiana state line. Pomeroy characterized as bitterly disappointing the first hearing of the Arkansas Pollution Control Commission at which the City of Monroe entered formal protest saying that pollution of the stream makes water in a domestic reservoir unusable by Monroe.

Pomeroy said the commission hearings were set up for the purpose of hearing constructive suggestions from oil operators who maintain stripper wells with a high salt water production ratio along the Ouachita and its tributaries.

Biddings Opened Road Projects

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The Louisiana Department of Highways will receive bids here November 13 on two projects, one each in Terrebonne and Franklin parishes.

R. B. Richardson, director of highways, said the Terrebonne project calls for construction of a timber trestle and L-beam bascule span bridge over Bayou Dularge. The Franklin parish project calls for 10,250 cubic yards of pit run gravel, furnished, mined, loaded, hauled and spot-dumped on certain public roads.

Sealed bids will be opened at 10 a.m. and the Highway Department reserves the right to reject any or all bids submitted, Richardson said.

Observance Places Cats In Limelight

By MARY ANNE CORPIN Staff Writer

One "International" Week that will be noted in Iron Curtain and Free countries alike starts tomorrow, and continues through next Saturday.

Cat Week International, planned for two years by the American Feline Society Inc., is a world wide project, to increase each individual's awareness of the high value of these members of the animal world.

The Society headquarters in New York City even has an adoption service, ready to provide a cat, plus the necessary instructions on care and training. Its main purposes are to prevent abuse of the friendly little animals, and to offer protection, food, medical attention, and advice for the care of cats. In addition, it provides free information for research specialists in many fields, including the government, and for newspapers, radio, TV, advertising agencies and the general public.

During the International week the membership is stressing usefulness of cats and the pleasure which results from owning one of these four-footed felines.

LSU Stages Research In Sugar Cane

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Better methods of sampling and evaluating sugar cane are being sought by researchers at the Audubon Sugar Factory on the Louisiana State University campus as sugar cane grinding season gets into full swing.

They are also testing new cane varieties, aiding manufacturers of insecticides and fungicides in testing their products, and continuing research on the utilization of sugar cane bagasse.

Dr. Arthur G. Keller, professor of chemical engineering and sugar specialist at LSU, said the research on sampling methods should be beneficial both to cane growers and millers, who desire greater accuracy in grading sugar cane.

He pointed out that finding improved methods of sampling sugar cane sometimes takes years. However, the LSU sugar experts are considering new ideas that will give larger and more representative samples than the present procedure of hand picking stalks from each load.

Speed a Factor
Since speed is an important factor in sampling cane, a faster method of getting samples and grinding them for inspection is desirable, Dr. Keller said. The two-year research is being supported by the Marketing Research Division of the USDA.

The world's largest sugar mill operated solely for research, the Audubon Factory is able to make studies that other mills are unable to do because they must concentrate almost entirely on production.

Another phase of the research by the chemical engineering department is the milling of new promising cane varieties developed at Canal Point, Fla., by the USDA and grown in Louisiana.

The LSU researchers are also cooperating with manufacturers of insecticides and fungicides in determining whether new chemicals have any effect on the eating quality of sugar. Cane treated with various chemicals is milled at the factory, and the final products studied in laboratories of the manufacturers.

Learn Principles
The Audubon Sugar Factory is a laboratory in which 47 students majoring in chemical engineering sugar technology and sugar engineering spend about two months learning the principles of chemical plant operation and research. Eight of the 47 are from foreign countries, including Formosa, Burma, France and nations in the Caribbean and Latin America.

Two graduate students working on their Ph. D. degrees are contributing to certain phases of the research as partial requirement for their degrees.

Dr. Keller explained that the students are learning basic principles of chemical engineering which apply to other industries also. Not all of the students will go into the sugar industry, but many will find jobs in oil refineries, rubber factories and other plants.

The two-month grinding season at the LSU factory will conclude just before the Christmas holidays.

Also in last month's report was the listing of three buildings moved and three demolished. Permits were granted for construction of 29 dwelling units for a total of $244,216, one barber shop at $3,000, two store buildings at $12,000, one shop building at $5,000, one used car lot office at $500, one shed at $600; 26 additions, alterations and repairs to dwellings at $24,050, and six additions, alterations and repairs to non - residential structures at $49,500.

On a nationwide basis, Stennis said, 227,000 more teachers are needed. This year, 159,000 classrooms were needed despite the fact there were more than a million classrooms available in September.

"More of our revenues must be channeled into education," he said. "Under present conditions, however, federal aid is certainly not the answer to our problem."

"Federal control and interference in the classroom level of work will inevitably follow financial assistance to the public school system."

Exhaust Every Source
"We must exhaust every resource and means of revenue."

"We must and we will stand firm in defending our public school system from outside interference, in the guise of financial assistance or otherwise."

FEEDER CALF SALE

2,500 Head Cattle
Handled At Delhi

DELHI (Special) — More than 2,500 head of cattle, consigned to the Delhi Feeder Calf Sale by cattlemen from throughout Northeast Louisiana, were auctioned yesterday at prices which sponsors of the event considered "satisfactory."

The sale, believed to be the largest of its kind ever held in Louisiana, attracted buyers from as far away as the Midwest. Although bookkeeping was not yet completed last night, a number of good quality feeders were moving early in the sale at 20 to 25 cents a pound.

The sale got under way at 1 p.m. in the Delhi Auction Barn with a brief program led off by Basil Doles, LSU agricultural extension service agent for Richland parish. Doles said that the purpose of the sale was to bring feeder cattle together in large enough numbers to attract bigger buyers thereby creating market conditions more favorable to both seller and buyer.

Paul Hardee, assistant agent for Richland, discussed briefly the grading of the animals to be sold and introduced Mike James, 11-year-old 4-H Club member from Rayville, who displayed in the auction ring his prize beef calf, a 10-month-old Hereford weighing 800 pounds. Hardee pointed to this animal as an example of what could be done with a top quality calf.

Passman Attends

Rep. Otto Passman of Monroe, who attended the sale, was introduced by James Parish of Girard, president of the Richland parish Farm Bureau, and spoke briefly.

Passman told of his opposition to livestock price programs and federal aid for education programs which have been offered in Congress, remarking that "President Eisenhower tried a little federal aid to education in Little Rock and it cost six million dollars to keep less than a dozen students in school for 30 days."

Weighted 400 Pounds

The 2,500 animals sold were about half Angus and half Hereford by number. Most of them were spring calves, weighing as much as 400 pounds on the average. Some of the major parishes from which they were consigned were Richland, Franklin, Tensas and Madison.

Grading was done by A. D. Fitzgerald, animal husbandman, and Charles Alsbrooks, associate marketing specialist with the LSU agricultural extension service, assisted by Paul Hardee of Richland and J. R. Jeter and Mr. McCurley of the East Carroll and Calcasieu Parish extension staff respectively.

Sponsors of the event were the Richland parish Cattlemen's Association and the Delhi Auction Barn. Members of the sale committee were Earl Dunn, president of the Richland Parish Cattlemen's Association; Paul Thames, Basil Doles, Richland Parish Agent, and Billy Hubbard, Rayville.

Auctioneers Ike Hamilton of West Monroe and Dan McKay of Vicksburg spelled each other in the marathon sale, which began about 2 p.m. and continued well into the night. The Illinois Central railroad set out 23 railroads cars for the convenience of buyers at the sale who wanted to ship by rail. Many head moved by truck also.

After treatment at Conway Memorial hospital, the lad returned home - without any archery plans in mind.

Negro Couple
Out On Bonds
After Knifing

A Negro man and his wife were both released on bonds from the parish jail here yesterday following a knifing incident sometime Thursday night on Swayze street.

Out on a $1,000 bond was Frances Conway, 18, who allegedly attacked her husband Flint Conway, 24, with a knife. The man was charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace, and was released on a $150 bond. He was not reported injured seriously.

In other activity, Deputy Hoyt Moncrief escorted three men to Angola where they will begin serving sentences of three and five years, all on separate burglary charges.

Men To Angola

The men were Ewing B. McDonald, 35-year-old Negro, five years; Sherman Buie, 40, Negro, five years for aggravated burglary, and Jack G. T aylor, three years for burglary of the Greenmill Inn. Two other men involved in the Greenmill Inn burglary that occurred here July 4 were transferred to Angola yesterday.

A Huttig, Ark., woman, wanted here for theft by check, was brought here from El Dorado yesterday morning, Sheriff Bailey Grant reported.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Louise Billings, 26, Deputies Bowman and Bell returned the woman to the parish jail where she is being held under a $750 bond.

Arkansas Attorney General Bruce Bennett, wrote the ordinance under which Crenshaw was arrested and sent copies to every town and city in Arkansas, suggesting that they adopt it in a "grass roots" campaign against the NAACP.

Syrian-Turkish
Hotspot Buried
In U.N. Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 1 (UP)—The United Nations General Assembly quietly buried the Syrian-Turkish "war crisis" today.

Responding to an appeal from Indonesia, accepted by both sides in advance of this morning's assembly meeting, both Syria and the western powers agreed not to press to a vote their resolutions calling for United Nations action.

But a few hours later, Salah El Bitar, Syrian foreign minister, told news conference his government did "not feel sufficiently tranquil that the causes which created the last crisis on the Turkish-Syrian frontier have disappeared."

Nevertheless, Bitar said, "there is really no subject to discuss" with Turkey and the only issue, according to him, is "the massing of Turkish troops on the Syrian frontier and that this may be intended as a means of putting pressure on the Syrian government or to be used for direct aggression should the occasion arise."

Syria had demanded investigation of the Turkish border situation by a seven-nation commission. Japan, with seven other powers, had asked secretary-general Dag Hammarskjöld to make himself available for talks with Syrian and Turkish leaders and to go to the Middle East if necessary.

City Sends Pistol Team
To Houston

Officials of the Blue Bell Club sponsored pistol meet at Houston, Tex., have invited a team from the Monroe Police Department to demonstrate quick-draw shooting there Sunday.

The meet is an annual affair and features teams from Southeast Texas, with trophies given to teams compiling the best score.

The Monroe team has been asked to supply the special attraction and has been allotted two hours to perform, from 10 to 12 noon Sunday. The local team will not compete in the match.

Melvin Loper and T. O. Bancroft, Sr., designed the machine which was specially built to measure time in the quick draw contests. Both men have been instrumental in stimulating interest in such affairs in the Monroe area.

Late yesterday afternoon the group met to make final plans for the trip, starting at 9 this morning. They will return tomorrow afternoon.

Half Of River
To Be Annexed
By West Monroe

West Monroe is now involved in legal action that will annex to the city the half of the Ouachita River that borders the present eastern city limits.

The city is to claim half the river from Thompson Street on the south to the Arkansas Road on the north. Officials said formal annexation will cinch the city's police authority on half the river.

Previously, West Monroe had acted under the assumption that its authority extended to the middle of the stream, but it is not believed that any legal annexation has ever taken place.

Monroe has jurisdiction to the middle of the river from its west side.

City Courts

MONROE

Twenty-four cases were heard in city court yesterday before Judge W. M. Harper, with the majority of the proceedings ending in cash bond forfeitures.

Nine bonds were forfeited on speeding charges, eight for "other" traffic violations—mostly parking tickets, two for running red lights, one person forfeited a bond for driving a vehicle that had an improper muffler, and one other person forfeited a cash bond on charge of drunkenness.

Two persons received compulsory 30-day sentences for appearing in public while intoxicated, and one person was given a sentence of $27.50 or 27 and one half days for appearing while intoxicated.

Warning Told
To Veterans
On Insurance

A warning to veterans of World War II was issued yesterday by H. B. McClendon, veterans' service officer for Ouachita parish.

He reviewed the 5-year-plan of the National Service Life Insurance currently being carried by three million vets, and explained that the premium is based on increasing age for each 5-year renewal period.

"The policy expires and must be renewed each five years, with a higher premium each time. This increase becomes progressively higher each five years, and is so great at the age of 55 to 65 that many veterans may be forced to drop their insurance," the service officer explained.

Several permanent plans of the insurance are available to veterans, who may convert their term policies. Although the premiums on a permanent plan will be higher to start, they can never be increased, and usually will work out "considerably cheaper in the long run" McClendon added.

He urged all veterans who still have the 5-year plan insurance to contact him in room 204, parish courthouse, to discuss converting their policies to a permanent premium.

11 Burglaries
During Past
Week In City

Two burglaries sometime Thursday night brought the week's total of 11 and Monroe Police were continuing investigations into the forced entries.

A safe was reported taken from Phillips "66" service at 3501 Jackson, but it was not revealed how much, if any, money was in the safe. Entrance to the building was gained through a broken window.

An employee of the Unique Cleaners, 3219 Louisville, reported to police that the business had been ransacked, but no money was taken. Investigation revealed that clothes had been strewn over the floor, but no major damage was reported.

Booked on Theft

Ruth Bright, who gave her address as Five Points, was booked yesterday for theft of a clock valued at less than $20. The clock was believed to be the same one reported taken from a residence on St. John street earlier this week.

The woman was in city jail and no bond had been set late yesterday.

Find Time For Visit

The President replied: "I warmly appreciate your renewed invitation on behalf of the state of Oklahoma to participate in its Semi-Centennial celebration which ends Nov. 16. Upon review of my engagements during the next two weeks, I find it possible to schedule the first of my forthcoming addresses to the nation on Nov. 13. I should be delighted to make that address from Oklahoma City, in that way doing what my time permits to join with Oklahoma in its celebration of its 50th birthday this year. I am grateful to you and the people of Oklahoma for re-inviting me and look forward to being there on Nov. 13."

"Dwight D. Eisenhower."

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 1 (UP)—The United Nations General Assembly quietly buried the Syrian-Turkish "war crisis" today.

Responding to an appeal from Indonesia, accepted by both sides in advance of this morning's assembly meeting, both Syria and the western powers agreed not to press a vote their resolutions calling for United Nations action.

But a few hours later, Salah El Bitar, Syrian foreign minister, told a news conference his government did "not feel sufficiently tranquil that the causes which created the last crisis on the Turkish-Syrian frontier have disappeared."

Nevertheless, Bitar said, "there is really no subject to discuss" with Turkey and the only issue, according to him, is "the massing of Turkish troops on the Syrian frontier and that this may be intended as a means of putting pressure on the Syrian government or to be used for direct aggression should the occasion arise."

Syria had demanded investigation of the Turkish border situation by a seven-nation commission. Japan, with seven other powers, had asked secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold to make

Youth Is Struck By 'Arrow' In Play Game Here

From now on, when 11-year-old Robert Davis see anyone wounded by an arrow on a cowboy-and-Indians or Robin Hood film, he'll have a first-hand knowledge of how the victim supposedly feels.

Robert had his forehead creased by an "arrow" last night - not in Sherwood Forest, but in safe, modern Louis Locke homes.

He and a young friend were playing outside at 6:30 p.m. "We weren't playing Indians or shooting at each other, we were just playing," stated the son of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Davis, 28 A. Louis Locke homes.

Whatever the game was, the friend with a bow and arrow wound up on one side of the street and Robert was on the other. The long, dry weed-stalk used as an arrow was fired, and banged Robert above the right eye, causing a minor laceration.

After treatment at Conway Memorial hospital, the lad returned home without any archery plans in mind.

City Sends Pistol Team To Houston

Officials of the Blue Bell Club sponsored pistol meet at Houston, Tex., have invited a team from the Monroe Police Department to demonstrate quick - draw shooting there Sunday.

The meet is an annual affair and features teams from Southeast Texas, with trophies given to teams compiling the best score.

The Monroe team has been asked to supply the special attraction and has been allotted two hours to perform, from 10 to 12 noon Sunday. The local team will not compete in the match.

Melvin Loper and T. O. Bancroft, Sr., designed the machine which was specially built to measure time in the quick draw contests. Both men have been instrumental in stimulating interest in such affairs in the Monroe area.

Late yesterday afternoon the group met to make final plans for the trip, starting at 9 this morning. They will return tomorrow afternoon.

Half Of River To Be Annexed By West Monroe

West Monroe is now involved in legal action that will annex to the city the half of the Ouachita River that borders the present eastern city limits.

The city is to claim half the river from Thompson Street on the south to the Arkansas Road on the north. Officials said formal annexation will cinch the city's police authority on half the river. Previously, West Monroe had acted under the assumption that its authority extended to the middle of the stream, but it is not believed that any legal annexation has ever taken place.

Monroe has jurisdiction to the middle of the river from its west side.

City Courts

MONROE Twenty-four cases were heard in city court yesterday before Judge W. M. Harper, with the majority of the proceedings ending in cash bond forfeitures.

Nine bonds were forfeited on speeding charges, eight for "other" traffic violations—mostly parking tickets, two for running red lights, one person forfeited a bond for driving a vehicle that had an improper muffler, and one other person forfeited a cash bond on a charge of drunkenness.

Two persons received compulsory 30-day sentences for appearing in public while intoxicated, and one person was given a sentence of $27.50 or 27 and one half days for appearing while intoxicated.

Celebrated

Crowds thronged St. Matthew's church yesterday morning on All Saints Day and on the same block, women of varied churches here celebrated a World Wide Day of Prayer. Offerings of clothing and cash were collected and a special service was conducted and peace with all nations implored.

Jobs

A total of 235 Northeast State students are employed in jobs as they work a large part of their way through college. Jobs are found in many instances right on the college campus, in the library, cafeteria, aiding as assistants to faculty members and ground work on the campus.

Those so employed are more than 10 per cent of the enrollment of the college which is in excess of 2,000. It is a fine showing of ambitions shown by students.

Election

St. Thomas Episcopal church on Filhiol avenue, close to the campus of the college, will hold election of officers taken from the enrollment at the nearby Northeast State college. This will be held November 10 at 6:30 p.m. Father James Whatley will be in charge. A name for the group is to be decided on and its program which will be held on the second Sunday monthly. The sessions will comprise prayer, a supper meal and a program of varied features.

Warning Told To Veterans On Insurance

A warning to "veterans of World War II was issued yesterday by H. B. McClendon, veterans' service officer for Ouachita parish.

He reviewed the 5-year-plan of the National Service Life Insurance currently being carried by three million vets, and explained that the premium is based on increasing age for each 5-year renewal period.

"The policy expires and must be renewed each five years, with a higher premium each time. This increase becomes progressively higher each five years, and is so great at the age of 55 to 65 that many veterans may be forced to drop their insurance," the service officer explained.

Several permanent plans of the insurance are available to veterans, who may convert their term policies. Although the premiums on a permanent plan will be higher to start, they can never be increased, and usually will work out "considerably cheaper in the long run" McClendon added.

He urged all veterans who still have the 5-year plan insurance to contact him in room 204, parish courthouse, to discuss converting their policies to a permanent premium.

11 Burglaries During Past Week In City

Two burglaries sometime Thursday night brought the week's total of 11 and Monroe Police were continuing investigations into the forced entries.

A safe was reported taken from Phillips "66" service at 3501 Jackson, but it was not revealed how much, if any, money was in the safe. Entrance to the building was gained through a broken window.

An employee of the Unique Cleaners, 3219 Louisville, reported to police that the business had been ransacked, but no money was taken. Investigation revealed that clothes had been strewn over the floor, but no major damage was reported.

Booked on Theft

Ruth Bright, who gave her address as Five Points, was booked yesterday for theft of a clock valued at less than $20. The clock was believed to be the same one reported taken from a residence on St. John street earlier this week.

The woman was in city jail and no bond had been set late yesterday.

Crippled Ouachita Visits Byrd For 1-AAA Contest

Ouachita's crippled Lions and Byrd's stumbling Yellowjackets clash tonight at Shreveport's Fair Park Stadium at 8 o'clock in a 1-AAA conference match, the second of the season for Byrd.

Byrd is heavily favored to crush Ouachita despite two straight defeats at the hand of Istrouma and the Baton Rouge. The losses are the only ones marked up against Coach Lee Hedge's Shreveporters, who have beaten Sulphur, West Monroe, Bossier, and Bolton.

Bob Ellen's Lions have won only one game, a 28-7 upset of AA Pineville, and have lost to Homer, Minden, Ruston, Fair Park and West Monroe. Ouachita will have six squad members out of action or at half speed for the game including all state candidate Eddie McGowan, the conference's leading scorer with 44 points.

CALDWELL DIES

Cancer Takes Life Of Princeton Coach

PRINCETON, N.J., Nov. 1 (UP)—Charlie Caldwell, Princeton University football coach for 12 years and a leading exponent of the single wing offense, died today of cancer at the age of 55.

Caldwell, coach of the year in 1950, died in Princeton hospital at 10:25 a.m. CST, after a long battle with intestinal cancer since last spring.

Caldwell, who took a medical leave of absence just before the season began, entered Princeton hospital last Monday and was put on the critical list Wednesday.

Assistant coach Dick Colman took over Caldwell's duties Sept. 23. Colman and the Tiger squad were on the way to Providence, R.I., by train for Saturday's game against Brown when university officials announced that Caldwell had died.

A university spokesman said a successor to Caldwell would not be named until the end of the season.

Princeton officials planned a public memorial service Monday at 3 p.m. CST, in the school chapel. A service for members of the Caldwell family will be Saturday.

Princeton President Dr. Robert F. Goheen said Caldwell's death came as a "blow to the entire Princeton community."

Goheen announced that the university would establish a fund in Caldwell's honor to help expand athletic facilities.

Caldwell's widow, the former Lucy McCarthy Wheeler, asked persons planning to send flowers to contribute instead to the newly-established fund.

Caldwell compiled a record of 70 victories, 30 losses and three ties beginning in 1945. His teams were held scoreless only three times and were unbeaten in 1950 and 1951, winning the Lambert trophy each time.

Caldwell's lifetime record as a head football coach was 146 victories, 67 losses and nine ties. He coached Williams College for 17 years before returning to Princeton as head coach.

The Tiger coach also wrote two books about football. They were "Modern Single Wing Football" and "Modern Football for the Spectator."

Weston Cage Schedule Has 15 Loop Tilts

JONESBORO, La. (Special)—Weston High School, six miles east of here, has 15 district six Class C games on its 22-game schedule for both boys and girls' teams.

The Weston girls, led by all state Alice Peel and coached by E. L. Busbice, tutor for over 15 years, had one of the area's finer teams last year and is expected to go far again this season. Billy Busbice coaches the boys' team.

The schedule, already five games deep against Eros, Chatham, and Calhoun, continues as follows:

Nov. 5—Dodson, home; 12-Sikes, home; 19-Calvin, there; 21-Grayson, there.

McGowan's absence puts the offensive load on quarterback Rex Carter and his passing. End Billy Roach will probably do most of the catching with halfback John Housley, carrying the running load.

Byrd's offense is led by halfback Bo Campbell, 175, and fullback Charlie Peatross, 190, a pair of big and hard running backs. Gary Montgomery is expected to be the quarterback and Vaughn Evers will be the other half. Robert Davis and Murry Johnson will be the ends, Hamm and Hartie Spence the tackles, Don Douglas and Larry Rambin the guards and Robert Shemell the center. That line averages 180 pounds, which isn't small.

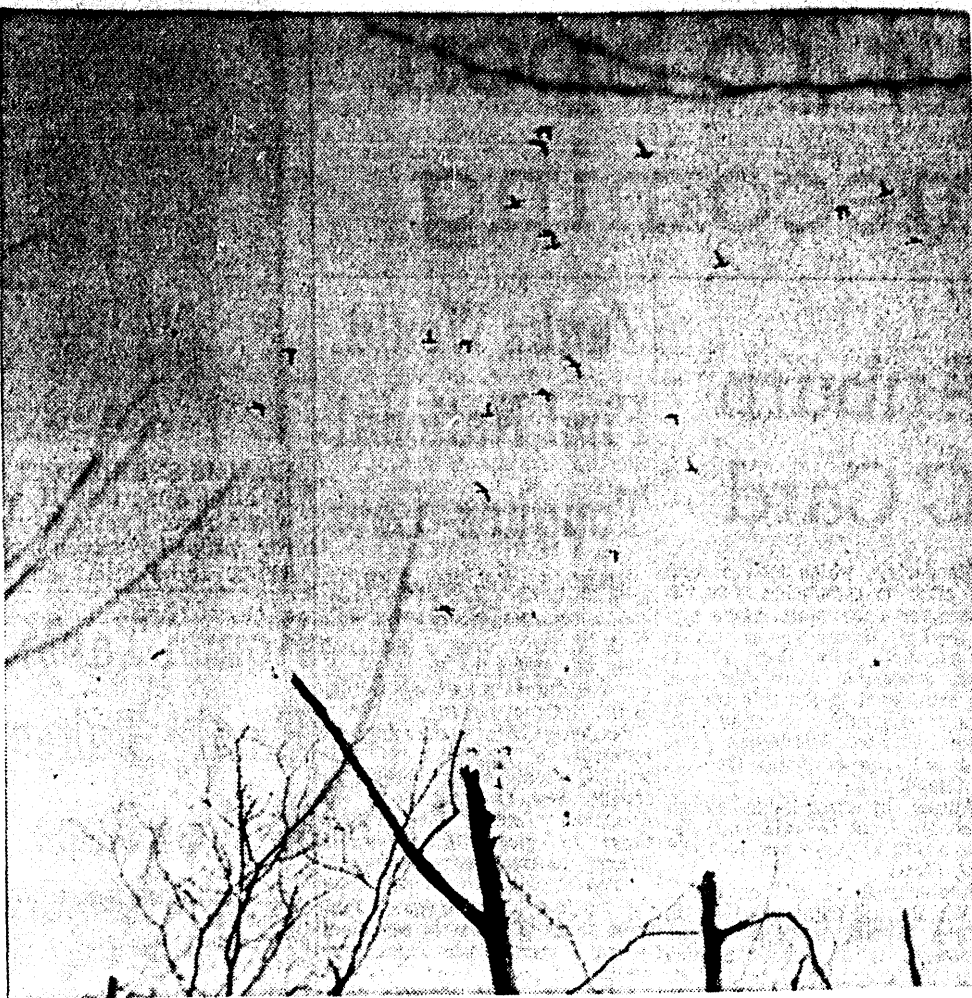

Ouachita will have Roach and Guy Logan at the ends, Cary Prewitt, the replacement for Moore, and Kenneth Ward at the tackles. David Kirtley and Hulen Carckett at the guards and Tommy Crowe at center. The Lion line averages 158. Carter, Housley, David Barker and Erwin Bates or Mahoney will be the backfield.

Chatham, home; 12-Quitman, there; 17-Eros, there; 19-Grayson, home.

Jan. 7-Atlanta, there; 14-Dodson, there; 21-Sikes, there; 23-Calvin, home; 28-Georgetown, home; 30-Chatham, there.

Feb. 4-Eros, home; 6-Atlanta, home.

Eros, Atlanta, Chatham, Georgetown, Calvin, Sikes, Dodson, and Grayson, are conference opponents.

The already-sizzling Gulf States Conference football race is expected to get even hotter Saturday.

Northwestern State is expected to add the fuel by beating Northeast State and pulling into a three-way tie for runnerup spot, only a shade behind first place Southeastern Louisiana.

Northwestern, which has beaten McNeese State and lost to Louisiana Tech, boasts the GSC's top offense and defense and the combination is expected to be too much for Northeast, loser in its three conference games.

A victory would move Northwestern into a tie with Tech and McNeese. Southeastern, which has a 1-0-1 conference record, hasn't played any of the three other contenders yet.

Louisiana Institute plays Louisiana College. Southeastern plays Tampa Tech. Tech plays McNeese and McNeese plays Southern State of Arkansas.

The single conference engagement could show a lot of offense. Northwestern's Charlie Tolar is the GSC's top runner with 489 yards, while teammate Dale Hoff-pair is the leading passer with 29 completions for 442 yards. Northeast has fine runners in Don Reynolds and Lloyd Smith and good passers in Nathan Zametto and Everett Reynolds.

A quick look at the other games: SLI Louisiana College: SLI's passing ace Steve Gossen and running star Ralph Davis are favored to beat the LC team that has already lost to two GSC squads.

Southeastern-Tampa: SLC won easily last year and, while not as potent-seeming this season, still is tough with the running of Frankie Bourgeois, Tommy Bell and Wayne Dugas. Tech-McNeese: The Louisiana team may have its hands full with McNeese, which monopolized the play last week although defeating McNeese only 7-6. And this game will be in Texas.

McNeese Southern State: McNeese should have a comfortable game against the team SLI beat 25-6. Rogers Hampton, Nyles Spurlock and their mates offer a bruising attack.

Jack Dempsey has refereed a lot of fights in which he got a fatter fee than the boxers, but the tops, according to Promoter John Nash of Caracas, Venezuela, was in 1940 in Caracas... "Jack got $8,000 plus all expenses to handle Sixto Escobar and Simon Chavez," said Nash on a recent visit.

Ailing Porkers Get Big Chance Against Aggies

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 1 (UP)—Ailing Arkansas, with several of its first 22 players on the influenza list, gets its opportunity tomorrow to vault back into the national football limelight against Texas A. and M., the nation's No. 1 team.

The flu bug has touched 14 Arkansas squadmen but only the services of tackles Richard "Snell" and John Boles and Guard Billy Michaels, bedridden with fever, are in doubt.

At A. and M., Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant listened to the moans of Arkansas' Jack Mitchell with some mild skepticism and declared:

"It wouldn't surprise me to get beat three or four touchdowns."

Although unbeaten A. and M. ranked first nationally in the Associated Press poll and Arkansas at the eleventh spot, Bryant points with merit to the fact that the Razorbacks are a tough, deep football team.

Selvy Departs From Furman

GREENVILLE, S.C., Nov. 1 (UP)—The Furman University athletic department announced today that Edd Selvy, brother of former Furman basketball All-American Frank Selvy, had withdrawn from school.

Selvy transferred to Furman from Kentucky last January and would have been eligible for basketball at the middle of this season.

Athletic director and basketball Coach Lyles Alley did not elaborate upon the reason for Selvy's departure except to say that Selvy had indicated he would take a job in Kentucky.

His home is in Corbin, Ky. He is married and the father of one child.

Halfback McGowan suffered a sprained ankle against Fair Park two weeks ago and aggravated the injury in the West Monroe game last Friday. Reserve tackle Nobel Prewitt is out with a knee injury, starting tackle Harold Moore, regular fullback Woody Mahoney and last week's starting left half Herbert Perry all have the flu. Alternate starting end John Talley also has an ankle injury.

The game shapes up as an "offense vs. defense" battle. Byrd's bruising defense, led by tackle Bobby Hamm, had allowed only one touchdown before running into the two Baton Rouge powerhouses. Frank Gifford of the football Giants, who makes movies between seasons, insists he's a long way from becoming a star... "more like a glorified stunt man," he says.

Agent Frank Scott, who represents all the top flight big league baseball players in non-baseball deals, has a son named after a football coach... the late Jack Sutherland of Pittsburgh was Frank's long-time idol so the boy is John Bain Scott after Pitt's famed coach.

Lightweight boxer Ralph Dupps who won his long fight in New Orleans to be certified as white instead of Negro, lost his biggest "payday" in the process... the best possible New Orleans match would be lightweight champ Joe Brown, a Negro, and Dupas... they could have packed any house down there — where inter-racial contests are not permitted.

If it's true what they say, life is just beginning for ex-light heavyweight champ Billy Conn... he turned 40 this month.

While Tony Kubek of the Yankees is wintering in Milwaukee, Frank Torre of the Braves is idling in New York... Frank came out of Brooklyn, originally a high school pitcher and not a first baseman.

Jack Dempsey has refereed a lot of fights in which he got a fatter fee than the boxers, but the tops, according to Promoter John Nash of Caracas, Venezuela, was in 1940 in Caracas... "Jack got $8,000 plus all expenses to handle Sixto Escobar and Simon Chavez" said Nash on a recent visit.

Ailing Porkers Get Big Chance Against Aggies

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 1 (UP)—Ailing Arkansas, with several of its first 22 players on the influenza list, gets its opportunity tomorrow to vault back into the national football limelight against Texas A. and M., the nation's No. 1 team.

The flu bug has touched 14 Arkansas squadmen but only the services of tackles Richard Bennett and John Boles and Guard Billy Michaels, bedridden with fever, are in doubt.

At A. and M., Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant listened to the moans of Arkansas' Jack Mitchell with some mild skepticism and declared:

"It wouldn't surprise me to get beat three or four touchdowns."

Although unbeaten A. and M. ranked first nationally in the Associated Press poll and Arkansas at the eleventh spot, Bryant points with merit to the fact that the Razorbacks are a tough, deep football team.

Selvy Departs From Furman

GREENVILLE, S.C., Nov. 1 (UP)—The Furman University athletic department announced today that Edd Selvy, brother of former Furman basketball All-American Frank Selvy, had withdrawn from school.

Selvy transferred to Furman from Kentucky last January and would have been eligible for basketball at the middle of this season.

Athletic director and basketball Coach Lyles Alley did not elaborate upon the reason for Selvy's departure except to say that Selvy had indicated he would take a job in Kentucky.

His home is in Corbin, Ky. He is married and the father of one child.

Northeast Out To Spoil Demons' Homecoming

Gulf States Conference power Northwestern tries to keep its championship hopes alive this afternoon when they meet cellar-dwelling Northeast State at 2:30 o'clock in the Demons' homecoming tilt.

The pre-season pick for the championship and the conference's top offensive and defensive team, Jack Clayton's Demons are heavily favored to take their second loop win of the year over Devone Payne's Indians, winners of only one game. The game looks like a rout but could be a stunner.

Northeast, with first string right half Tony Hartnell to miss the game and second stringers Everett Reynolds, Billy McGraw, Tony Peccan doubtful participants, hardly looks in a position to derail Northwestern's title chances they "could give them a mighty good game if we don't drop the ball," as Coach Devone Payne says.

Northeast has one of the better offenses in the conference when they manage to hold on to the pigskin. Last week against league-leading Southeastern, they scored two touchdowns, marched all over the field — and lost six fumbles.

The Indians are second to Northwestern in total offense and also in passing offense. Northeast passers are going to be facing a formidable aerial defense since the Demons rank third in the country among National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics member teams. Northwestern has allowed its opponents in six games only 34.8 yards per game via the aerial route, holding them to only 19 completions in 65 attempts.

Northeast has passed for an average of 85 yards per game to Northwestern's 92 yard average. Demon quarterback Dale Hoff-pair is the conference's leading passer with 29 completions in 42 attempts for 442 yards. Both of the loop's top receivers are Demons. Halfback Charley Henigan has caught eight for 72 yards and teammate end Billy Booth pulled in the same number but got more mileage, traveling 222 yards.

Fullback Charley Tolar is Northwestern's only doubtful player but he'll definitely be missed if he can't make it. The "medium tank" is currently the Gulf States' top rusher with 489 yards on 68 carries. Tolar is expected to start but was injured last Saturday and has been held out of the rough work this week.

Northeast will start Jim Knox and Joe Driskill on the flanks, Jim Brent and Jim Britt at the tackles, Gerald Elkins and Lloyd Williams at the guards and Sidney "Buck" Anderson at center. Nathan Zametto will be the quarterback and Don Reynolds will be at left half. Keith Amos, just recovered from injuries himself, will replace Hartnell at right half and Lloyd Ray Smith's fine running against Southeastern last week pushed him into the starting fullback spot.

Hartnell was injured in practice Monday while Everett Reynolds has his second case of the flu. Peccan aggravated an old injury during practice and McGraw has a wrenched back. Right half Benny Franklin has a trick shoulder that may keep him out of action. To relieve the halfback shortage, Payne has been running regular fullback Robert McGough at both of the halfback positions and he's sure to see a lot of action there today.

Northwestern will start Booth and Billy Sheehy at the ends, Charles Johnston and Bert Heckle at the tackles, Bryant Lewis and Bobby Tackett at the guards and Fred Wylie at center. Don Deen or Frank Pernici will team with Hoffpair, Henigan and Tolar in the Demon backfield.

Quitman Plays 19-Game Cage Slate; 6 Meets

JONESBORO, La. (Special) — Quitman High's Wolverines are playing a 19-game schedule on the basketball hardwoods this season under new coach Donald Wyatt. In addition, the Class B contenders, who last produced a cage champion in 1950, will show six tournaments for boys or girls or both.

Coach Wyatt has the job of building new basketball forces for the school seven miles north of here as he moves into Quitman with no experienced talent.

Exclusive of dates already with Eros and Chatham, the Quitman schedule shows:

Nov. 12-Bienville tourney; 5-Athens, home; 7-Eros, there; 7-8-Catham tourney (girls); 14-Athens, there; 14-15-Saline tourney (boys); 19-Arcadia, home; 21-Jonesboro-Hodge, home; 25-30-Quitman tourney (boys).

Dec. 5-Choudrant, there; 5-6-Gibbsland tourney (girls); 10-Calhoun, home; 12-Weston, home; 17-Calhoun, there; 19-Weston, there.

Jan. 2-Jonesboro-Hodge, there; 7-Simsboro, home; 9-Saline, home; 14-Simsboro, there; 16-Arcadia, home; 16-17-18-Jonesboro-Hodge tourney (boys); 21-Saline, there; 30-Choudrant, home.

LSU AT VANDY

Florida, Auburn Head SEC Card

By MERCER BAILEY (The Associated Press)

Can Florida do to Auburn what it did to Louisiana State, or is Auburn a Tiger of a different stripe?

The answer to that big question in Southeastern Conference football could make or break a potential SEC grid champion. Both unbeaten Auburn, the nation's fourth-ranked team, and once-whipped Florida are candidates for the SEC crown.

Defeat would bring an end to the Gators' title dreams and an Auburn loss would be a severe jolt to the Tigers' chances.

Mississippi still is unbeaten in conference play and unless somebody knocks over Auburn or Ole Miss the SEC will have co-champions this year.

Louisiana State had a four-game winning streak last week when they were upended by the Gators. Auburn is breezing along with five straight victories going into this afternoon's battle with Florida. Auburn is favored by about eight points.

The Auburn-Florida battle is the top SEC game on the program but it must share the national spotlight with an inter-conference tilt pitting Georgia Tech against Duke, the Nation's No. 7 power.

Duke's big, unbeaten team is a touchdown favorite over the erratic, sophomore-laden Techsters, who have a 2-1 record all SEC teams into action. A doubleheader at Jackson, Miss., offers Mississippi State vs. Tulane in the afternoon and Ole Miss vs. Houston at night. State and Ole Miss face a three-TD nod from the gambling fraternity.

TOUGH FOR TOP 5

K-State Takes Shot At Mighty Okla.

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. (The Associated Press)

Kansas State gets its chance to try to stop Oklahoma's 45-game football winning streak today as Coach Bus Mertes claims: "There isn't a squad in the country that wouldn't welcome the opportunity."

That might be taken as a tongue-in-cheek offer to let someone else try it, because Oklahoma could be very rough at this stage of the season. The Sooners suffered their narrowest escape in years last week, when they beat Colorado 14-13, and they lost their accustomed place at the top of The Associated Press national poll rankings to Texas A&M.

Mertes, however, says what he's talking about is the thrill a team or a coach gets from playing the best teams in football, even if there's only a very slim chance of winning.

On that basis, not only Kansas State, but Arkansas, Michigan, Florida and Navy should derive considerable pleasure from today's games, win or lose. They're opposing the top five teams in the national ratings and at least a couple are conceded chances of registering upsets.

The K-State Wildcats, who up-ended Iowa State last week, are expected to do much better than last year, when they took a 66-0 drubbing from Oklahoma. The Sooners should bounce back from their close call and be stronger and more eager than ever.

Arkansas, playing top-rated Texas A&M still is very much in the running for the Southwest Conference title and the Cotton Bowl bid. Although the Razorbacks lost to rapidly improving Texas, they are ranked 11th nationally and have one of the strongest defenses of any college team.

Michigan, playing at home, is given an even chance against Iowa in the national TV game. The Wolverines recovered from their drubbing by Michigan State and last week belted Minnesota right out of the running for the Rose Bowl. Iowa, lucky to beat Northwestern in the mud last week, has to win this one to stay even with Ohio State, which faces the winless Wildcats of Northwestern today. Both Iowa and Ohio State are unbeaten in Big Ten play.

Florida, with a 3-1 record so far, encounters fourth-ranked Auburn, the Southeastern Conference leader, in a battle of probationed powers. Both teams are under NCAA probation for recruiting violations and ineligible for bowl bids.

Navy, beaten only by North Carolina in a big surprise, encounters fifth-rated Notre Dame. There's a feeling in some quarters—even at South Bend—that Notre Dame's luck can't last indefinitely and it might run out against the Midshipmen. The all-winning Irish are about the same team that couldn't win last year, but greatly improved on defense. The question is whether this defense is good enough to stop Tom Forrestal's passing and Ned Oldham's running—and whether Navy's first team can go the route.

Pairings for other teams ranked in the top ten are Michigan State (6) at Wisconsin, Duke (7) at Georgia Tech, Ohio State (8) vs.

Vanderbilt, which took a week off after its convincing 32-20 victory over Penn State, plays host to the LSU Tigers, who are hoping to rebound from their Florida loss. Tennessee, which still must be considered in the title picture along with other one-time SEC losers Florida, Mississippi State and LSU, meets North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

Among the lesser lights, winless Alabama is at Georgia and winless Kentucky plays host to Memphis State.

Kentucky is an odds-on choice to win its first game and Georgia gets a 10-point nod over "Bama. Tennessee is a touchdown pick over the Tar Heels and LSU ranks a TD-choice over Vandy in smart money circles.

Here we go: Auburn over Florida: The Tigers are at home and seem to have hit their stride.

Duke over Georgia Tech: The Blue Devils have too much manpower and are eager to settle some old scores with Tech.

Vanderbilt over Louisiana State: Going out on a limb and calling an upset in an explosive, offensive thriller.

Georgia over Alabama: The Bulldog attack jelled last week and the "Bama defense is the SEC's weakest.

Mississippi State over Tulane: The Greenies are fighters but the Maroons are too powerful.

Tennessee over North Carolina: The slop-starting Vols are gathering momentum.

Mississippi over Houston: The Rebels return to their high-scoring tactics.

Kentucky over Memphis State: It should be easy because State is crippled.

Yanks Would Find National Tougher--Lew

NITRO, W. Va., Nov. 1 (UP)—Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette acknowledged today that the New York Yankees were a good ball club, but added the Bronx Bombers would have a lot more trouble in the National League.

Burdette, here to receive the accolades of his hometown fans tonight, should know whereof he speaks. For Lew set down the American League team three times to give the Milwaukee Braves the world championship.

"The Yankees would rate with the top four in our league," Burdette said. "I'd like to see them in our league to see where they would end up."

Lew met West Virginia Gov. Cecil H. Underwood today to set off a day of festivities which will be climaxed here with a big parade in his honor.

It is Burdette's first return to his native state in two years. He said it was nice to be back, but all the attention he has received since the series makes "a good night's sleep" a luxury.

"This is the crazy life now," Burdette said. "It's been this way since the series. I'm beginning to wonder when I'll be able to get a good night's sleep."

Mayor Of Salt Lake City Out For PCL Club

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 1 (UP)—Mayor Adiel F. Stewart of Salt Lake City opened a drive today to get his city's baseball club back into the Pacific Coast League after an absence of 32 years and said he was "encouraged" by the result.

Stewart appeared before the Coast League directors who are studying realignment of the loop and said his bid received "serious consideration" by the organization.

"It looks favorable for us," Stewart said. "We were questioned for about an hour by President Leslie O'Connor and other members of the directors on our facilities and were told they would consider us seriously as a PCL ball club next season."

Stewart said that Salt Lake is prepared to raise its seating capacity in Derks Field from 9,000 to 13,000 as soon as it receives the green light from the Coast League.

Asked as to which franchise he would prefer, Stewart said "we'll take the one with the best players and the best working agreement."

SAN DIEGO OPEN

Palmer Has Birdie Binge To Nab Lead

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 1 (UP)—Young Arnold Palmer, poker-faced golfer from Latrobe, Pa., parlayed a batch of birdies and some great recovery shots into the third-round leadership of the $20,000 San Diego Open today.

He fired a four-under-par 68 for a 36-hole total of 201.

Shooting his third consecutive round under 70 (65-68-68), the handsome former Wake Forest athlete took a stroke lead over a tightly-packed field.

Right on his heels came Al Balding, the third-round leader, and Doug Ford, the Masters champion, who tanked a 13-foot putt on the last hole. Balding had 71 and Ford 67 for 202 totals.

Then came Bobby Rosburg on rounds of 65-71-67 for 203; followed by Billy Casper, San Diego with 69-66-69; and Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla., with 67-69-68, giving each 204.

So it will be Palmer who will have the nerve-shattering experience of fiddling around Saturday playing in a none-count pro-amateur tournament while he waits to take the field on Sunday to protect his lead in the finals.

Palmer put together nines of 34-34 today with a bit of scrambling that could have been costly, but turned out on the credit side. He hit his second into a trap on the third hole, but still blasted out to get a birdie; and on the sixth he made an eagle after hitting his tee shot behind a tree, then curving the second around onto the green and rolling in an eight-foot putt.

Then on the par-three, 210-yard 18th, he missed the green and had to pitch 50 feet to the pin. He did that, sinking an 18-inch putt.

"I've played real well all three ways," he said afterward. "I've hit only one really bad shot—that out-of-bounds long yesterday. The lone bogey I had today came from carelessness when I three-putted, missing a two-footer for the par on the 12th."

Round Table Easily Takes Betless Race

CAMDEN, N.J., Nov. 1 (UP)—Round Table, a ranking candidate for "horse of the year" honors, warmed up for next Saturday's $75,000 added Trenton Handicap by sprinting through the mud at Garden State today to an easy eight-length victory in a betless special event.

He picked up an easy $2,000 to boost his lifetime earnings to $647,976.

In the first exhibition race ever staged in the 15-year history of Garden State, Round Table demonstrated he could handle almost any kind of a track. Willie Shoemaker took the Kerr Stable colt to bear into the lead on the stretch turn and the colt easily pulled away from Commodore Curt. Hoosier Honey wound up far back.

Round Table, who may meet the other top candidate for "horse of the year" honors—Dedicate, Bold Ruler and Gallant Man—in the mile and one-quarter Trenton, splashed the mile and 70 yards today in 1:41 3-5 to register his 11th straight win and his 14th of the year in 20 starts. Round Table carried saddle weight of 126 pounds.

Trainer William Molter had Shoemaker fly in from California to handle Round Table today in his final serious workout for the Trenton.

Mike DeJohn, Syracuse heavy-weight who knocked out Alex Miteff, is the father of 2-year-old twins, a boy and a girl.

Kansas Names Committee To Select Coach

LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 1 (UP)—The University of Kansas named a screening committee today to select a successor to football Coach Chuck Mather.

Dr. Laurence Woodruff, dean of students and chairman of the K. U. athletic board of control, said the board last night accepted the resignations of Mather and five assistants.

Mather, coach at the Big Eight school since 1954, announced Wednesday night he and his staff will step out at the end of the season. Their contracts run until March 1.

Woodruff appointed a six-man screening committee to find Mather's successor. Faculty members are Prof. Charles Leone, zoology department, and Prof. Calvin Vanderwerf, chemistry department. Bob Billings, Russell, Kan., basketball player and president of the student body, will represent the students. Named from alumni ranks were Roy Edwards, Kansas City, Kan., and Robert Kirk, Wichita.

Northeast Out To Spoil Demons' Homecoming

Gulf States Conference power Northwestern tries to keep its championship hopes alive this afternoon when they meet cellar dwelling Northeast State at 2:30 o'clock in the Demons' homecoming tilt.

The pre-season pick for the championship and the conference's top offensive and defensive team, Jack Clayton's Demons are heavily favored to take their second loop win of the year over Devone Payne's Indians, winners of only one game. The game looks like a rout but could be a stunner.

LSU AT VANDY

Florida, Auburn Head SEC Card

By MERCER BAILEY
(The Associated Press)

Can Florida do Auburn what it did to Louisiana State, or is Auburn a Tiger of a different stripe?

The answer to that big question in Southeastern Conference football could make or break a potential SEC grid champion. Both unbeaten Auburn, the nation's fourth-ranked team, and oncedominant Florida are candidates for the SEC crown.

Defeat would bring an end to the Gators' title dreams and Auburn loss would be a severe jolt to the Tigers' chances.

Mississippi still is unbeaten in conference play and unless somebody knocks over Auburn or Ole Miss the SEC will have co-champions this year.

Louisiana State had a four-game winning streak last week when they were upended by the Gators. Auburn is breezing along with five straight victories going into this afternoon's battle with Florida. Auburn is favored by about eight points.

The Auburn-Florida battle is the top SEC game on the program but it must share the national spotlight with an inter-conference tilt pitting Georgia Tech against Duke, the Nation's No. 7 power. Duke's big, unbeaten team is a touchdown favorite over the erratic, sophomore-laden Techsters, who have a 2-2-1 record.

The day's state brings all SEC teams into action. A doubleheader at Jackson, Miss., offers Mississippi State vs. Tulane in the afternoon and Ole Miss vs. Houston at night. State and Ole Miss rate a three-TD nod from the gambling fraternity.

Florida, which took a week off after its convincing 32-20 victory over Penn State, plays host to the LSU Tigers, who are hoping to rebound from their Florida loss. Tennessee, which still must be considered in the title picture along with other one-time SEC losers Florida, Mississippi State and LSU, meets North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

Among the lesser lights, winless Alabama is at Georgia and winless Kentucky plays host to Memphis State.

Kentucky is an odds-on choice to win its first game and Georgia gets a 10-point nod over 'Bama. Tennessee is a touchdown pick over the Tar Heels and LSU ranks a TD-choice over Vandy in smart money circles.

Here we go:
Auburn over Florida: The Tigers are at home and seem to have hit their stride.

Duke over Georgia Tech: The Blue Devils have too much manpower and are eager to settle some old scores with Tech.

Vanderbilt over Louisiana State: Going out on a limb and calling an upset in an explosive, offensive thriller.

Georgia over Alabama: The Bulldog attack jelled last week and the 'Bama defense is the SEC's weakest.

Mississippi State over Tulane: The Greenies are fighters but the Maroons are too powerful.

Tennessee over North Carolina: The slow-starting Vols are gathering momentum.

Mississippi over Houston: The Rebels return to their high-scoring tactics.

Kentucky over Memphis State: It should be easy because State is crippled.

Northwestern, Army (9) vs. Colgate and North Carolina State (10) vs. Wake Forest.

In a season like this one, it isn't safe to call any team a soft touch, but if there are any, Northwestern and Wake Forest should provide them. President Eisenhower and his 1915 West Point classmates are due to watch Army meet Colgate, a team that engaged the Captains in a wild 55-46 affair last year.

Oregon's Pacific Coast Conference leaders, who have knocked off two leading rivals for the Rose Bowl bid, get a chance to sew it up when they meet Stanford. A victory would virtually assure Oregon of finishing with the best record of any of the four eligible teams.

Webb, a Chicagoan, beat lanky Vaughn of Los Angeles at long range, although Vaughn—a 5-1 underdog—forced the fighting in every round and tried to pin the fast-moving Spider at close quarters.

Webb, weighing 158 1-2 pounds to Vaughn's 160 1-2, kept as much distance as possible between himself and Willie in order to bang him with long-range left hooks and straight rights. He also nailed Willie with many hard right up-purcuts.

Not until the ninth round, when Webb figured that Vaughn was tiring from the terrific pace, did he attempt to move in at close quarters. But Vaughn rallied surprisingly in that session to win it on the score sheets of all three ring officials. And Willie also took the 10th round on the sheet of two.

On a rounds basis the officials favored Webb as follows: Referee Barney Felix, 6-3-1; Judge Artie Aidala, 7-3, and Judge Bert Grant, 6-4. The United Press agree, 6-3-1.

It was an excellent fight in which Webb attempted to score an early knockout over underdog Willie as he had done over Jackie LaBua in his last start Oct. 16, when he registered a kayo at 59 seconds of the first round.

But Willie—although his knees were buckled by a right to the chin in the first session—fought on and took all the explosive Webb could dish out.

QUITS RING
NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (UP)—Dr. Vincent Nardiello, widely known ring physician, resigned today from the medical staff of the N.Y. State Athletic Commission because of poor health.

Yanks Would Find National Tougher--Lew

NITRO, W. Va., Nov. 1 (UP)—Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette acknowledged today that the New York Yankees were a good ball club, but added the Bronx Bombers would have a lot more trouble in the National League.

Burdette, here to receive the accolades of his hometown fans tonight, should know whereof he speaks. For Lew set down the American League team three times to give the Milwaukee Braves the world championship.

"The Yankees would rate with the top four in our league," Burdette said. "I'd like to see them in our league to see where they would end up."

Lew met West Virginia Gov. Cecil H. Underwood today to set off a day of festivities which will be climaxed here with a big parade in his honor.

It is Burdette's first return to his native state in two years. He said it was nice to be back, but all the attention he has received since the series makes "a good night's sleep" a luxury.

"This is the crazy life now," Burdette said. "It's been this way since the series. I'm beginning to wonder when I'll be able to get a good night's sleep."

Round Table, who may meet the other top candidate's for "horse of the year" honors—Dedicated, Bold Ruler and Gallant Man—in the mile and one-quarter Trenton, splashed the mile and 70 yards today in 1:41 3-5 to register his 11th straight win and his 14th of the year in 20 starts. Round Table carried scale weight of 126 pounds.

Trainer William Molter had Shoemaker fly in from California to handle Round Table today in his final serious workout for the Trenton.

Round Table Easily Takes Betless Race

CAMDEN, N.J., Nov. 1 (UP)—Round Table, a ranking candidate for "horse of the year" honors, warmed up for next Saturday's $75,000 added Trenton Handicap by sprinting through the mud at Garden State today to an easy eight-length victory in a betless special event.

He picked up an easy $2,000 to boost his lifetime earnings to $647,976.

In the first exhibition race ever staged in the 15-year history of Garden State, Round Table demonstrated he could handle almost any kind of a track. Willie Shoemaker took the Kerr Stable color bear into the lead on the stretch turn and the colt easily pulled away from Commodore Curt. Hooser Honey wound up far back.

Supertest Cracks Speedboat Record

PICTON, Ont., Nov. 1 (UP)—Miss Supertest II, a Canadian boat powered by a British engine, today shattered the world speedboat record for propeller-driven hydroplanes by averaging 184.499 miles per hour.

The sleek 31-foot craft, driven by Arthur Asbury, 36, of Oxtongue Lake, Ont., twice thundered over a one-kilometer course off Picton, making one south and one north run.

The record smashed the previous mark set in 1950 by Slo-Mo-Shun of Seattle, Wash., of 178.997 miles per hour. Scotland's Don Campbell holds the world record for speedboating of 225.63 miles an hour, but his champion Bluebird II is a jet-propelled craft.

"This boat's a honey," Asbury said as he stepped ashore after his record-setting runs. "I'm sure that if we tune up her Rolls Royce Griffin engine, she will do more than 200 miles an hour."

Neville's Tigers Capture 21-0 Verdict From Natchez

Neville shunned the good neighbor policy last night and won their first game from Natchez, Mississippi since 1935, and easy 21-0 near-romp over the highly regarded Big Eight Conference squad at Neville Stadium.

The Tigers stunned the visitors with two quick touchdowns in the first quarter and kept the Mississippians at midfield most of the game while counting another TD in the fourth quarter. Gene Howard ran 43 yards for the first score of the game in the first two minutes of the clash. Before 10½ minutes had gone by in the game, the Tigers had another when quarterback and fullback Willie Ragan burst over from the three.

End Bill Roussard scored the final touchdown of the night when he made a fine catch of a 12-yard pass from quarterback Joe Cage in the fourth quarter. Ragan converted after all the touchdowns to take scoring honors for the night with 9 points.

Neville, looking toward the Nov. 22 date with Ruston, almost got another touchdown in the second quarter when they plunged as far as the Natchez three before being punched back.

The Rebels from the Magnolia State, favored in some quarters before the game, didn't make much of a battle of it and threatened seriously only once. That was in the fourth quarter when they reached the 14 before Tiger center Travis Oliver swiped the ball from a Natchez runner and returned to the 19. Quarterback Perry Dunn, the visitors' big gun, almost gave his team a touchdown with a pass to end Mike Morgan in the end zone just before Oliver pulled his theft but the Neville defenders managed to break it up.

The game's crowd was treated to one of the best halftime shows around here in some time by the two schools' bands. Both used those old reliable crowd pleasers—girls, a confederate flag and "Dixie."

Neville's corp of Tigerettes, whose 1952 edition swooned in record numbers at the last Neville-Natchez game, stayed awake for this one and swarmed on the field at the cessation of hostilities to embrace their heroes.

Neville wasted no time in scoring their first touchdown. After Natchez punted from their 10 after receiving the opening kickoff, the Tigers took a clipping rap back to their 27 before Bill Depriest went for five to the 32. Ragan passed to Marvin Smart for a first down on the Rebels' 43. Howard then burst up the middle and flashed through the secondary for 43 yards and the TD. Ragan booted the PAT and it was 7-0 with less than two minutes gone.

The tremendous Tigers started on the way to their second score after the visitors took the kickoff, couldn't move and punted to the 15. Smart ran to the 19. Depriest went for five and Smart for two. Marvin then moved it to the Tigers' 45 for a first.

Howard went for seven and then Ragan, now at fullback, to the 39 for another first. Willie made four more and then Howard went to the 27. Smart made four and Ragan sprinted to the 10 for another first. Howard made it to the three and then Ragan burst over and kicked the point. It was 14-0 with only 10½ minutes gone.

Ruple's raiders looked dangerous again in the second period when they marched to the nine and had four downs to make six more points. Ragan lost two but Howard went to the three. However, Depriest lost back to the 11 and then Joe Cage was pulled down trying to pass at the 20 to end the threat.

Neville started the march to their third touchdown in the third quarter after the Rebels' Jerry Kemerling punted 19 yards to the Tiger 25. Howard went for one and Ragan for 17. Depriest went for one and the first down on the Tiger 44. Cage went to the Natchez 47. Ragan to the 41 and Cage again to the 35.

Ragan went for 10 before Smart reeled off the longest run of the drive, an 18 yard gallop to the eight. Howard went for one on the first play of the final period before the locals were caught in motion and penalized to the 12. From there Cage unlimbered his arm and threw to Broussard in the end zone. Bill battled Ted Poole for the ball and won. Ragan booted the point and it ended at 21-0.

The lineups: Neville Ends — Broussard, Sparks, McMillan, Hines. Tackles — Nolan, Keith, Squires. Guards — Edwards, Jordan, Grant. Center — Oliver, Hale. High School Grid Results

Mangham has lost only to Crowville.

BASTROP SHADED
BASTROP, La., (Special)—The Bastrop Rams, after grabbing a 13-0 first quarter lead, faded in the last half when the Springhill Lumberjacks fought from behind to fashion a 14-13 victory.

Joe Aikens put Bastrop in front when he scooted six yards around right end for a first quarter touchdown, and immediately after Springhill took the following kickoff, Charles Haymon intercepted a pass and rambled 35 yards for the second Ram TD. Aikens ran for the point and the Rams were ahead 13-0.

But Springhill began taking up the slack in the third quarter when Jerry Griffin blocked a Bastrop punt on the Ram 25, the ball rolled to the 20 when Griffin scooped it up and ran the rest of the way. Griffin kicked the point.

Then in the fourth quarter Malcolm slipped off guard for eight yards and the young Lumberjack to boot the all-important point after that won the game for the invaders.

Springhill had 13 first downs to Bastrop's nine, but the Rams outscored the invaders, 177 to 147. Springhill completed six of 19 passes for 59 yards, and Bastrop completed three of 22 for 38.

7TH STRAIGHT
MORGAN CITY, La., Nov. 1 (UP)—Morgan City took a first period lead tonight and coasted to its seventh straight football victory, a 34-7 triumph over Fortier.

J. Y. Mulia scored first on a two-yard run and Charles Varnum on a 54-yard dash for the second. Varnum added another later on a short buck. Other touchdowns were by Davis Cavalier and Jimmy Simmons.

Fortier scored in the second on an 11-yard run by John Russo, with Terry Terrence running the extra point.

SICILY ISLAND, 51-14
SICILY ISLAND, La., (Special)—Sicily Island's surging Tigers followed the flashy five-touchdown running of Dean Wiggins here last night and romped to an easy 51-14 victory over Vidalia.

The Tigers scored twice in the first and second periods, once in the third and came back to rally for three more in the finale.

Wiggins, who undoubtedly ran with mercury in his shoes, gave an indication of what was to transpire on the second play of the ball game when he raced 60 yards for the touchdown.

That was only a sample, however. For later on, it was Wiggins on runs of 95, 40, 86 and 70 yards respectively — all touchdown efforts.

Scoring was not Wiggins' lone weapon as he took to the airways to throw two touchdown passes, one to Harold Watson and the other to Craig King.

Sicily Island scored again when Allen Cole intercepted a pass and ran 50 yards into paydirt. John Weston ran over three extra points and Cole bucked across for one.

Vidalia's first touchdown came on a pass from Calvert to Carpenter. Andrews ran the point across. Robert Chisholm picked up a Tiger fumble late in the game and turned it into a 20-yard touchdown run for the losing Vikings.

Natchitoches 13, Winnfield 7
WINNFIELD, La., (Special)—The Natchitoches Red Devils had to fight from behind in the last quarter last night to defeat the battling Winnfield Tigers, 13-7, in a non-conference game.

Class A Winnfield jumped into the lead in the middle of the second quarter when fullback Leonard Melton skirted right end for six yards and the touchdown. Quarterback John Harrington converted.

With 47 seconds left in the second period, quarterback Don Beasley passed to right end Roger Williams for Natchitoches' first TD, but the try for point was missed and the Tigers led 7-6 at the half.

Early in the fourth quarter halfback Steve Murphy scooted around right end for five yards as the Devils' payoff touchdown. Beasley converted.

REDEMPTORIST, 19-0
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1 (UP)—Redemptorist scored once in each of the first three quarters tonight as it whipped McDonogh 19-0 in a New Orleans triple-A football game.

BEGINNING OF THE END—Willie Ragan (51), who played both quarterback and fullback for Neville last night, is about to be brought down by an unidentified Natchez Rebel as Natchez center

Lawrence Berden (38) comes in to help. Ragan scored nine points as Neville whipped their Mississippi foe, 21-0, for the first time since 1935. (Staff photo by Bob Ewing)

St. Matthew's Drops Couple To Mer Rouge

Mer Rouge High School basketball teams invaded Monroe last night to take a double header from the Fighting Irish of St. Matthew's High. The Mer Rouge boys notched a 50-44 victory after the invading girls had won, 38-15.

Jimmy Tonore went on an 18-point spree for the Irish quintet, but Mer Rouge's Clark was high scorer of the game with 20 points.

In the girls' contest, Katherine Sievers was high scorer for St. Matthew's with nine, and Dawson set the winning pace for Mer Rouge with 19.

St. Matthew's gets its next action on a Friday invasion of Pioneer for a boys and girls double header.

FAIR PARK FALLS
FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 1 (UP)—Monte Boley scored one touchdown and passed for another tonight as Fort Smith survived a late rally to defeat Fair Park 18-13.

Boley tallied his first touchdown in the second quarter and passed to end Jim Grizzle for two yards or another. Fullback Van Lee went four yards for the other Fort Smith marker.

Gary Lauter boomed over from the five for Fair Park's first touchdown in the third quarter and substitute halfback Gerry Burton streaked 85 yards with an intercepted pass for the other tally in the fourth. Hyton Hanson kicked the Fair Park conversion.

Magnolia Park Bankruptcy Case To Be Probed

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1 (UP)—The Magnolia Park, Inc., race track bankruptcy case was taken under advisement today by Edmund E. Talbot Sr., federal referee.

Talbot, who has been conducting the hearings for two weeks, will present his findings to U. S. District Judge J. Skelly Wright for a final decision.

Magnolia Park opened its racing season last month, but was forced to close after 10 days because of non-payment of rent and other debts.

At the final hearing today, Atty. Moise Steeg of the Kenner Racing Assn. said his group has no plans at present to conduct a racing meeting.

The State Racing Commission has granted the Kenner group a 45-day spring racing meet at Magnolia Park after the Fair Grounds closes.

but Linville's Lona Ford was the night's leading scorer with 30 points. Alpha Jamison of Marion had 13 points and Linville's Peggy Gilmore scored 7.

HURRICANE, 13-7

Miami Uses Fumble To Whip Villanova

United Press Sports Writer
MIAMI, Nov. 1 (UP)—Miami turned a fumble and penalty into a fourth period touchdown tonight to score a 13 to 7 victory over underdog but undaunted Villanova before 31,900 fans.

The Hurricanes, favored by two touchdowns, then had to fight off a rain of passes by Bill Magee and Jim Grazione which kept the outcome in doubt until the final gun.

Villanova played Miami to a standstill except for an 80-yard scoring sprint by Hurricane halfback Joe Plevel in the first period and moved into a 7-6 lead in the third period on a 57 yard march and Rick Sapienza's extra point kick.

But with defeat staring them in the face, Miami's linemen forced Villanova's backs into fumbles. Guard Nathan Kelly fell on a fumble by Magee at the Villanova 36 and Miami was back in business.

A penalty carried Miami to the 25 and fullback Bill Sandie went to the 12 on three plunges. Quarterback Fran Curci threw eight yards to Plevel.

Still on the four at the fourth down, halfback Bonnie Yarbrough set up to try a field goal from the 10. The pass from center was bad and Yarbrough never had a chance to kick, but an offside penalty against Villanova gave Miami another chance from the one.

Curci deceived the tightly-packed defense by skirting end for the score and Yarbrough converted.

Miami Passing Curtailed
The Villanova line, led by guard Mike DeLucia, bottled up the pitchout and passing antics of Curci, Miami's 139-pound field general.

But the little quarterback flipped one of his famed pitchouts to Plevel early in the first period and the halfback scooted 80 yards to score. Just as Plevel was giving out of steam, center Jim Otto threw a key block at the Villanova 20 to insure the score. A bad pass from center spoiled the extra point try.

A gamble on fourth down with only six inches to go failed for Miami and Villanova took over for its 57-yard touchdown march.

Score by periods:
Miami 6 0 0 7—13
Villanova 0 0 7 0—7
Miami scoring: Touchdowns, Plevel (80 run); Curci (1, run). Conversions, Yarbrough.
Villanova scoring: Touchdown, Parr (1, plunge). Conversion, Sapienza.

Sylvia Masur And Fiance Are Feted At Supper

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Levi, Mr. and Mrs. David Masur with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Masur were gay with the glitter of precious metals, and flowers to match. The honor table was centered with a golden slipper filled with gold and white chrysanthemums and silver taffeta leaves. Little slippers of gold held cigarettes and the match covers were in silver glitter, the theme was continued to the place cards — each of which bore a tiny golden charm. The small tables, echoed the color scheme and included the cocktail napkins bearing the names of the honored couple in silver. The honoree, wearing a silver grey satin-under-blue lace pointed up with her gift corsage of golden button mums, received with her hostesses.

In for the festivities were Mrs. Jeanne Brin, Jack Ansell Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Silverstein, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Glazer, Mr. and Mrs. Myer Weldman, Bo Pasternack, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Smith, Larry Saltzman, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Aron, Miss Mildred Gene Levi and Miss Roseanna Marks.

Benjamin Farmer Jr. And Fiancee Announces Plans

Benjamin Robert Farmer, Jr., and his fiancee, Miss Carolyn Spough of Charlotte, North Carolina, have completed the plans for their wedding which will be on November 8, at half past seven o'clock.

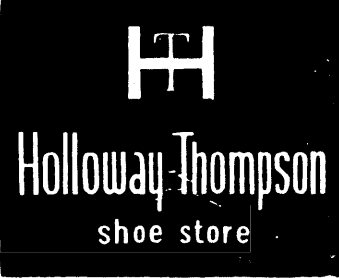

Dr. Herbert Spough and the Right Reverend J. Kenneth Pfuhl will be the officiants at the ceremony in The Little Church on the Lane, at Charlotte.

The Nuptial Concert will be given by Dr. James Christian Pfuhl, and the groom's best man will be his father, Mr. B. R. Farmer of Monroe. Ushers are to be Dr. Earle Spough and Herbert Spough Jr., both of Charlotte; Lt. Clark Matkins of Bossier City, and Lt. Gilbert Aio of Honolulu, Hawaii.

The Matron of Honor will be Mrs. Courtenay Harrison of Durham, N.C. The bridesmaids will be Mrs. Albert Sterkx of Lake

Charles (sister of the groom), Mrs. Edwin Barnes of Rock Hill, S.C., Mrs. Richard Henchum of Coral Gables, Fla., and Mrs. Herbert Spough Jr., of Charlotte, N.C.

The wedding reception will be given by Dr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Spough and the Women of the Church in the reception suite of the church.

Trojanettes Host Post-Game Homecoming

The Trojanettes of the Tallulah High School were hostesses for the post-game Homecoming dance, immediately following the Winnsboro-Tallulah football game on Nov. 1. All supporters of the two teams were invited to attend.

Dancing began at 10:30 and ended at the traditional hour of 1:00 a. m., with the music of the Redmen from Northeast Louisiana State College setting the beat. All proceeds of the hop will go to the local Student Exchange Fund.

The high point of the evening was the presentation of the Queen and her Court. Miss Wynna Roper reigned over the dance as Queen, with Miss Lynda Laird as Maid of honor.

The Princesses were Miss Kay Rhinberger, Miss Ann Roper, Miss Jane Caldwell, Miss Vivian Cox and Miss Sherrie Smith.

Interior Decorating
Brighten Up A
Baby's Room In Pastel Yellow

Q.—We have just purchased a new sofa and chair for our living room. They are wing type Colonial with ruffled skirts and they are upholstered with a crewl design in three shades of brown, with black accents on a light ivory background. The only other pieces we have for the room is a black Boston rocker, a black and gold antique table and some end tables in maple and cherry. What colors and types would you suggest for the wallpaper, rugs and draperies?

A.—With the patterned upholstery in your living room use a weave effect wallpaper. Blue-green would be a good color. Vari-colored oval braided rugs and gold caate curtains would fit nicely into the Colonial theme of the room.

Q.—I have a problem. I would like to use some yellow in my kitchen and do not know just how to do it. The wall tile is white with black lines, the floor tile is black and white blocks, the woodwork is varnished and the appliances are white. What colors should I choose for the wallpaper, curtains, a shade for a wall lamp and for the breakfast set which I would like to paint.

A.—There are several ways you can bring yellow into the color scheme of your kitchen. What do you think of this idea? Wallpaper, a pattern in yellow, white and red; breakfast set, yellow. Also, room with a skirt in maroon, yellow and turquoise stripe would be a good idea for the cedar chest, as it would serve as extra seating space as well as for storage.

YWCA Leaders Honored
By B-P Girls Club

Three local YWCA women were honored Thursday night at a banquet given by the Business and Professional Girls Club, which is a branch of the YWCA.

Mrs. Inez Humphries, sponsor of the Business Girls, Miss Bess Sharp, executive secretary, and Mrs. Ruth Hundley, housemother, were the honor guests.

A special program was prepared for the occasion to express appreciation for the love and devotion, guidance and inspiration given by the honorees to all members of the YWCA. Miss Marion Simmons, master of ceremonies for the affair, introduced the Board, Mrs. Thomas Pitt, president of the Y-Teens, Miss Pat Stone representing the Y-Teens, and Miss Faye Taylor representing the Residence Girls. Miss Helen Turner, president of the Business Girls, represented her group.

Immediately following the special appreciation program, Mrs. Emma Alexander entertained the group with a Halloween story and humorous portrayal of the "Movie Nuisance." The group enjoyed various games to complete the evening's program.

Members of the Business Girls Club and their guests present were as follows: Carolyn Hensley, Helen Hunt, Allie Marie Coats, Dollye Burdeaux, Betty Napper, Roberta Hendry, Jenibe Westbrook, Helen Turner, Wilma LaBorde, Tommie Melton, Mary Riser, Dorothy Grant, Marion Simmons, Maude Brownlee, Ella Pearl Sutton, Lorraine Ragland, Alline Hall, Gyl Rowell, Alma Patrick, Evelyn George, Mary Lillian Faye Taylor, Pat Stone, Mrs. Emma Alexander, Mrs. A. Twenty Seven Clubs Of LFWC Name Candidates

Mrs. John C. Kenton of Mangham and president of 5th District Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs was nominated as a candidate for 3rd Vice President of the State Federation and Mrs. Claude Grimes of Tallulah was chosen as a candidate for Recording Secretary. This action was taken by delegates from 27 clubs of 5th District when they held their Club Institute in West Monroe on Saturday at the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Annette Coolidge presided at the meeting, and Mrs. Thomas Jett served as general chairman.

Other candidates for state office chosen by the group were: president, Mrs. Paul T. Wright, Lake Charles; first vice president, Mrs. H. B. Adams, Shreveport; second vice president, Mrs. D. D. Toups, Raceland. Mrs. A. D. Tisdale led a comprehensive study of the Fifth District Constitution and by-laws, with the group recommending certain changes to be studied and voted upon at the annual district convention which will be held in the spring.

A highlight of the meeting was a talk on club reporting by Vera Chambers, society editor of the Monroe Morning World. In her charming and vivacious manner, Mrs. Chambers gave many important points to be used when reporting club news to the paper. The Attendree Club of Ruston was welcomed into the federation. This club, sponsored by Littera Club of Ruston is made up of Charles (sister of the groom), Mrs. Edwin Barnes of Rock Hill S.C., Mrs. Richard Henchum of Coral Gables, Fla., and Mrs. Herbert Spough Jr., of Charlotte, N.C. The wedding reception will be given by Dr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Spough and the Women of the Church in the reception suite of the church.

Among those attending were: Mrs. Thomas Jett, Monroe; Mrs. C. C. Lucky, State Chairman Public Affairs, Monroe; Mrs. J. B. Kendall Jr., LFWC Junior Director, Ruston; Mrs. Annette Coolidge, Mangham; Mrs. Claude Grimes, State Auditor of Tallulah; Mrs. R. C. Leves, State Safety Chairman, Tallulah; Mrs. C. E. Interior Decorating Brighten Up A Baby's Room In Pastel Yellow

Q.—We have just purchased a new sofa and chair for our living room. They are wing type Colonial with ruffled skirts and they are upholstered with a crewl design in three shades of brown, with black accents on a light ivory background. The only other pieces we have for the room is a black Boston rocker, a black and gold antique table and some end tables in maple and cherry. What colors and types would you suggest for the wallpaper, rugs and draperies?

A.—With the patterned upholstery in your living room use a weave effect wallpaper. Blue-green would be a good color. Vari-colored oval braided rugs and gold cafe curtains would fit nicely into the Colonial theme of the room.

Q.—I have a problem. I would like to use some yellow in my kitchen and do not know just how to do it. The wall tile is white with black lines, the floor tile is black and white blocks, the woodwork is varnished and the appliances are white. What colors should I choose for the wallpaper, curtains, a shade for a wall lamp and for the breakfast set which I would like to paint.

A.—There are several ways you can bring yellow into the color scheme of your kitchen. What do you think of this idea? Wallpaper a pattern in yellow, white and red; breakfast set, yellow. Also, you could either bring the wallpaper up over the ceiling or you could paint it yellow.

Q.—I recently moved into a new home and would like advice on what to put above the fireplace in the living room. The wall is knotty pine and the fireplace itself is very simple with no mantel. I have a large mirror. Do you think that would look well? My furniture is contemporary.

A.—You could use the large mirror above the fireplace in your living room. You might give it additional interest by hanging groups of small, black-framed silhouettes on either side of it.

Q.—Would you suggest a color scheme for a baby's room which has only one window and is very dark? The furniture is birch and there is a rocking chair and a cedar chest that I would like to cover. Also, would lined cafe curtains be a good idea to control the light?

A.—You can brighten up the baby's room by painting the walls pale yellow and the ceiling pale aqua. Get a washable cotton rug in turquoise for the floor, cover the rocking chair in aqua, and a cushioned seat covered in maroon with a skirt in maroon, yellow and turquoise stripe would be a good idea for the cedar chest as it would serve as extra seating space as well as for storage.

Sharp, executive secretary, and Mrs. Ruth Hundley, housemother, were the honor guests.

A special program was prepared for the occasion to express appreciation for the love and devotion, guidance and inspiration given by the honorees to all members of the YWCA. Miss Marion Simmons, master of ceremonies for the affair, introduced the Board, Mrs. Thomas Pitt, president of the Y-tes, Miss Pat Stone representing the Y-Teens, and Miss Faye Taulor representing the Residence Girls. Miss Helen Turner, president of the Business Girls, represented her group.

Immediately following the special appreciation program, Mrs. Emma Alexander entertained the group with a Halloween story and humorous portrayal of the "Movie Nuisance." The group enjoyed various games to complete the evening's program.

Members of the Business Girls Club and their guests present were as follows: Carolyn Hensley, Helen Hunt, Allie Marie Coats, Dolly Burdeaux, Betty Napper, Roberta Hendry, Jenise Westbrooke, Helen Turner, Wilma LaBorde, Tommie Melton, Mary Riser, Dorothy Grant, Marion Simmons.

Maude Brownlee, Ella Pearl Sutton, Lorraine Ragland, Alline Hall, Gyl Rowell, Alma Patrick, Llewellyn George, Mary Lillian Scriber, Faye Taylor, Pat Stone, Mrs. Emma Alexander, Mrs. A. E. Allen, Mrs. Thomas Pitt, and the honor guests, Mrs. Humphries, Miss Sharp and Mrs. Hundley.

What To Do For A Cold? Prevent Complications

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Half the population will suffer from more than one cold this year. Only about 10 per cent escape at least one annual bout with the sniffles. Although a cold is not serious unless secondary complications arise, no malady is quite so annoying.

The running nose, the hacking cough, the sore throat and weeping eyes and the bronchial wheeze are not only the most unattractive conditions imaginable, but just about the most miserable.

Regardless of all of the amazing discoveries of science, the cause of colds remained a mystery for years. It is suspected that a virus is the culprit and that the offender is always present in the throat but does not attack until our resistance is weakened by some factor. Other bacteria such as pneumonia may also be present but get the upper hand only after the tissues and membranes have become susceptible to them because of a cold.

Runs Its Course

Regardless of what one does, a cold usually runs its course. The main thing is to avoid complications. The treatment is much the same as ever. You should go to bed, eat a light diet, drink liquids copiously. Antihistamines seem to relieve some folks, but these should be taken only when your doctor prescribes them. If your symptoms persist past the usual length of time for a cold, if your fever rises or you have any unusual occurrences, you should call your physician. An ounce of prevention and care is well worth while. It is foolish to tempt the more serious complications which sometimes follow a cold.

As to prevention, our best bets are habits of life which keep our health at a high level. The right food and plenty of sleep and exercise help keep our resistance strong.

The habit of keeping rooms too hot weakens our defenses. Moderately warm homes and offices and sufficiently heavy clothing for the cold outdoors should be a part of your preventive measures. Naturally, wherever possible, you should avoid those who have a cold. If a member of your family is a victim, destroy the tissues he uses and keep the patient as isolated as feasible.

I hope you at least cut down on your quota this year. I have quoted in this column the fact that a large dose of vitamin A, if taken at the first sign of a cold, works like magic with some people.

Others do not respond to this therapy. It does no one any good after the cold has gotten a real hold. You might ask your doctor about this.

Dear Ann: I enjoyed the pros and cons of the Fatsy fight. At this point, however, I'm just burned up. When I read the letter from the woman who referred to children as "brats" and "Rag-amuffs" that did it.

I'm a nurse in the children's polio ward at the county hospital. Too bad you mothers who complained about the neighbor kids can't see the little tots from nine months to 10 years of age — all in iron lungs and wheel chairs. You'd bite your tongues.

And those of you who resent ush-ering kids to the toilet, wiping noses and putting up with the shouting, ought to thank almighty God that your youngsters can run and yell, and have their friends over.

You'd change your tune if you spent one afternoon with the pathetic little creatures who struggle to draw a breath or move a limb. The mothers of these children would give anything to trade places with you. Any takers? D. C. and R. N.

Dear Ann: Some close friends are having a problem with their oldest son. He's a real juvenile delinquent and has been in trouble with the law four times in the last two years.

Recently he got into a serious scrape and although he was not guilty of the crime, he was present. His father has come to the conclusion that the boy is no good. He feels the law should get tough with these young hoodlums, (his own included) and not let them off with the cream-puff treatment. YOUR BABY AND MINE

A Compromise Between Methods Seems Best

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

When an adult plays, in whatever fashion, he wears clothes which are suitable to the activity, whether this be golf, tennis, bowling, skating, swimming or what have you.

It should be obvious, then, that when children play they also wear the type of sturdy garment which can take hard wear, which doesn't get dirty too easily and which will not hamper them in their boisterous, active play.

Mrs. R. M. V. S. writes, "Your column has helped me so much in the rearing of my children and I would like your advice and also to comment on this situation.

Where's "Tom-Sawyer" Boy
"What has happened to the old-fashioned Tom Sawyer little boy with rosy cheeks, bare feet and torn jeans? I don't think children should be fashion plates, nor Beau Brummels at the age of two. But the mothers in our neighborhood dress their boys in fancy suits, brand-new sweaters and good, shined shoes and send them out to play and punish them constantly for getting a speck of dirt on themselves. They make our children — who are nice and grimy — feel inferior. They get normal."

ly dirty and wear old clothes at play time.
"I feel that such clothing is appropriate to special occasions — but that good clothes are vital — but not at play. In spite of our neighbors we are maintaining our standards of rugged youngsters who climb trees, make mud pies, live naturally and get dirty. A good bath at the end of the day brings out five lovely bodies which unfortunately our neighbors do not see. Which method is right?"

Answer
I imagine your neighborhood is unusual for more children wear jeans and sweat shirts for play than come out dressed as you describe.

Personally, I think children should have the whole day to play, uninhibited by thought of clothes. But toward dinner time they should be brought in, bathed and put into clean clothes and then until dinner their play should be restricted to games which don't get them filthy again. You are both going overboard in different ways. Their children are asked the impossible — to play and stay clean all day — yours never have the experience — it would seem — of being cleaned up except for special occasions. A nice compromise between the two methods seems best.

Better paid juvenile authorities and a strong and thoughtful rehabilitation program would be more effective than "getting tough."

Young offenders should be taught a trade and not merely be slapped behind bars to serve time. In many cases a boy who has been in jail comes out with a head full of new tricks picked up from experienced criminals. Small wonder they are back to robbing filling stations and grocery stores before long.

Confidentially: Tricked: Apparently "that giggly girl" stopped laughing long enough to marry the man. Forget about him and tell him to leave you alone. He made his choice.

Curious Conchita: So sorry but I can't give you a clue. I never reveal the identity of those who write to me. This is strictly between that person and me.

Heckled Helena: A fellow can't just drop dead because he knows something damaging about a girl. Let's hope he'll keep his mouth shut and not shut up, resolve to behave better in the future.

Cornball: Tell him you don't approve of that kind of dancing and refuse to be his partner if he insists on hip-wiggling. Yes — walk off the floor. Why not?

Tech Engineering Toy Drive Starts

Dean To Speak At New Orleans

RUSTON (Special) — Dean Ben T. Bogard of the School of Engineering at Louisiana Tech will be one of four speakers scheduled for talks at a meeting of the Louisiana Engineering Society in the Hotel DeSoto in New Orleans at 8 p.m. on Nov. 11.

Dean Bogard will discuss "Design and Engineering Systems."

Other speakers will be Dean F. W. Zur Burg of Southwestern, who will talk on "Engineering Sciences"; Dean Fred H. Fenn of Louisiana State University, "Humanities, Economics, etc.," and Dean Lee Johnson of Tulane University, "Basic Sciences."

The general theme of the meeting will be "Engineering Education." A forum - type program will be conducted, with Roy Sessums, former engineering dean at Tech, as moderator. Sessums now is affiliated with the Freeport Sulphur Company.

Anyone wishing to contribute toys may either deliver them to the city hall or call and they will be collected, Chief Sibley said.

Youth Week Observance Slated Here

The Monroe Optimist Club has called attention to "Youth Appreciation Week" here, beginning Monday and continuing through next Saturday, Fred Hightower, committee chairman, announced.

Posters signifying the week have been placed around the Twin Cities and Hightower said plans call for proclamations from Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard and Mayor J. Allan Norris.

"The object of this week will be bring attention of the youth before their parents and the public," Hightower stated. The program has been endorsed by the local club.

Pointing out specific examples, Hightower said surveys have shown teen-agers wish for more sound advice on practical matters from their parents.

Figures submitted by the Optimist Club showed that last year there were more than 6,500,000 enrolled members in youth camping organizations in the United States.

The Optimist Club announced that the year 1955 produced 120,000 junior achievers in the United States. The local club sponsors the Babe Ruth League and assists in other youth activities.

Youth Appreciation Week was inaugurated two years ago in Charlotte, N.C. by a small group of business men, Hightower said. The program proved successful, he said, and was endorsed by the Optimist Club.

"Youth needs acceptance and respect," Hightower stated. "Youth Appreciation Week will prove to be a powerful boost to teen-age self-respect."

Benny Goodman Band Feature On NE Campus

Headed by trombone star Urbie Green, the Benny Goodman band will appear on the Northeast State campus Tuesday for a concert and dance engagement.

Sponsored by the Student Council the musicians will give a concert from 7 until 8 p.m. in Brown Auditorium and will then move to the enlarged and newly-decorated Student Center for the dance from 9 until 12 midnight.

Concert tickets are $1 per person and dance admission is $2, individual or couple.

Green, at the helm of the organization, joined the group in 1954 and played all the trombone solos in the movies biography of Benny Goodman.

TICKER TAPE HIGHLIGHTS

Selling at about 32 times estimated 1957 earnings, polaroid is primarily attractive for longer term growth. There is still a vast market for the land camera which could be topped by introduction of a lower priced model. Also, eventual introduction of color could prove quite a stimulus.

Sharply increased production at Ford and Chevrolet will boost U. S. auto production this week to highest level since the first week of June.

Chrysler Corporation announced price on its 1958 cars which incorporate increases ranging from $29 to $210 over those announced for standard 1957 models.

Half Interest

In Terrebonne parish, Louisiana the Colorado company has a half interest in a discovery capable of 34 million cubic feet of gas a day plus distillate. A second well will be started shortly. Company has one half interest in 1,600 acres and a one-third interest in 2,000 acres in the area.

Manufacturing firms incoming orders in September on a seasonally adjusted basis, declined to $26.8 billion, the commerce dept. reported. September sales of manufacturers were down $400 million from the prior month. But they were $700 million above the year-earlier level.

NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS (P)—Spot cotton closed steady $1.25 a bale higher. Sales 1,116. Low middling 26.75; middling 34.00; good middling 34.75. Receipts 8,728. Stock 373,810.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1 (P)—The average price of one inch spot cotton at 14 designated southern spot markets today was 15 cents a bale higher at 33.75 cents a pound; previous day 33.72; week ago 33.70; month ago 33.40; year ago 33.15. Average for the past 30 market days 33.47; middling 15-16ths inch average 32.49; sales 67,595.

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT CHEWING GUM

GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (P)—Wheat futures advanced nearly two cents a bushel on 1958 deliveries on the Board of Trade today and all other grains and soybeans also closed steady to firm.

Action in wheat and soybeans stemmed from a renewal of reports that Secretary Agriculture Benson may soon retire. There was virtually no other news of importance to stir the trade.

Wheat closed 3/4 to 1 1/4 higher, corn 3/4 to 1 higher, oats 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, rye 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, soybeans 3/4 to 1 higher, and lard was unchanged to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Wheat: Dec 2.18 3/4; Mar 2.23 3/4; May 2.19 1/4; Jly 1.97 3/4; Sep 2.00 1/4.

Corn: Dec 1.18 3/4; Mar 1.23 1/4; May 1.26 1/4; Jly 1.28 1/4.

Oats: Dec 67 3/4; Mar 67 1/2; May 65 1/2; Jly 62 1/2.

Soybeans: Nov 2.27 3/4; Jan 2.32 3/4; Mar 2.35 3/4; May 2.38 3/4; Jly 2.36 3/4.

Lard: Nov 11.57; Dec 12.40; Jan 12.32; Mar 12.45.

Stocks Dip Lowest In Two Weeks

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (P)—Stock prices today slid from a precarious two-week top in their sharpest decline since the big break of Oct. 21.

Today's losses were barely half those taken Oct. 21 and the volume of 2,060,000 shares compared with 2,170,000.

Nevertheless, the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange fell an estimated $2,900,000, based on the drop in the average.

There was nothing hectic about today's retreat but selling pressure was steady, especially among stocks. The decline affected most major sections except airlines which staged a late rally based on Wall Street talk that their bid for a large fare increase had obtained backing in Washington.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped $2.40 to $155.90 with the industrials down $4.10, the rails down $2.30 and the utilities down 10 cents.

Of 1,145 issues traded, 713 declined and 224 advanced. There were 68 new lows for the year and no new highs.

Of the 16 most active stocks, 11 fell, 2 rose and 3 were unchanged. American Airlines was the most actively traded airline stock and rose 1/2. United and Eastern each gained 1/4.

Illinois Central, which is flourishing 1,500 workers was off around 2 at worst, closing with a net loss of 1 1/2. Southern Pacific and Southern Railway dropped 1 apiece.

WOOL LETTER

Courtesy Of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Bean

In rather quiet December trading futures showed small gains for the day except for the nearby December wool contract which closed very strong on a commission house buying order which found offerings light on the close.

The trade were early hedge sellers. However, good trade buying occurred later with offerings relatively light.

London futures close about unchanged for the day after showing losses of around 1 to 1 1/2 pence. A private source in London today expressed the viewpoint that Australian auction prices would decline further next week. There is some fear that the French financial crisis will severely curtail purchases of Australian wools by France. Last year France was Australia's third largest customer for wool and there is some talk that Australia will grant French exports more favorable terms to sustain France's imports of wool.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Million-Dollar Bridge Opened At Mackinac

ST. IGNACE, Mich., Nov. 1 (UP)—Michigan's 100 million dollar Mackinac Bridge was opened officially today with the five miles of steel and concrete joining a divided state.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams paid the first $3.25 toll to Mackinac Bridge Authority Chairman Fred H. Brown this afternoon to signal the opening of the span across the straits of Mackinac between Lake Michigan and Huron to commercial traffic.

"Michigan at last in one state, geographically, economically and culturally, as well as politically," Williams said. "It means the opening up of a great new trade route from the east to the northwest."

The bridge is 26,444 feet in length and its two majestic main towers rise 552 feet above the water.

It is billed as "the world's longest suspension bridge" since the distance from anchorage to anchorage is 8,614 feet. Its 3,800-foot center span between the two main towers ranks it second only to San Francisco's Golden Gate bridge.

Before today's opening, the only transportation between Michigan's industrial lower peninsula and the rugged upper peninsula was a fleet of state-operated car ferries which required 45 minutes to play the straits.

It took 11,000 men nearly four years to blend more than a million tons of steel and concrete into the span which links the two peninsulas. Five workmen lost their lives in accidents during the long and dangerous period of construction.

Shreveport Woman Hurt In Accident

BASTROP (Special)—A 47-year-old Shreveport woman was hospitalized here yesterday when her son's automobile ran off the highway and turned over.

The State Police identified her as Mrs. M. R. Singletary. She was reported in fair condition here last night with a fractured pelvis, a broken left leg and lacerations and bruises.

Her son, Charles M. Miller, also of Shreveport, escaped uninjured. He said he was lighting a cigarette when his car ran off the highway. The accident occurred on U.S. 165 at 1:30 p.m.

Americans consume 42 million aspirin tablets daily, the Health News Institute reports.

Customs Against Headquarters Move

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 1 (UP)—The U. S. customs office has squelched a move to split the 23rd U. S. Customs District with headquarters at Laredo and form another with headquarters in the valley.

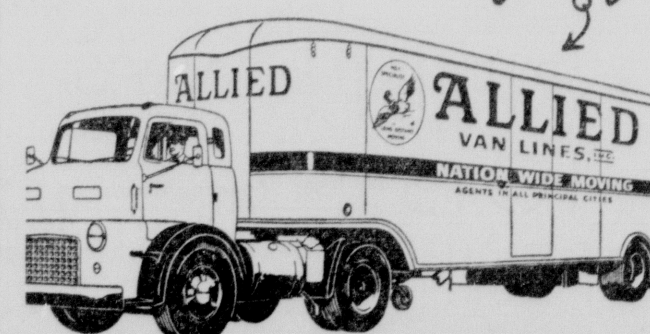

Customs Commissioner Ralph Kelly notified Rep. Joe M. Kilgore (D-Tex.) that there is not sufficient need to justify the new district.

More than seven million barrels of crude oil are produced daily.

Texan Admits July Robbery At Tonore's

A 26-year-old Texan, already sentenced to life for an Indiana kidnapping and still facing a first-degree murder charge, has verbally admitted the armed robbery of Tonore's Party Mart on July 17.

Chief James C. Kelly Jr. said his department received notification from the Indiana State Police that Victor Wayne Whitely had admitted to them that the Monroe robbery was one of the several in which he was involved through out the nation. Kelly said she was told Whitely refused to sign a written statement confessing the robbery.

Whitely was the object of one of Indiana's biggest manhunts last month following a tour of violence in Michigan—Indiana in which his partner Ralph Walker Taylor, 36, St. Albans, V. Va., was killed by policemen's fire just before Whitely was captured at a roadblock near North Vernon, Ind.

Life Sentence

Whitely's life sentence came for kidnapping in Indiana, and the murder charge before him is for allegedly shooting Trooper William Kellems, 27, near Scottsboro, Ind.

In the Tonore robbery, George Tonore, 49, proprietor, and John David, 53, manager, were tied and gagged, on the floor of the business after two gunmen held them up and took about $1,500. Taylor, who was killed before Whitely's capture, was believed to be involved in the local robbery.

An investigation began immediately after the robbery and city police recently received information that Whitely may have been involved in the robbery, but a waited confirmation from the Indiana State Police until today.

Local officials have explained that Whitely will probably not be returned to Monroe, but a release and clearance of the case would be obtained.

AN AMERICAN symbol of classic design, the new Continental Mark III models open a new era in the luxury car field. For the first time since the introduction of this prestige-leader of American cars, Continental in 1958 offers a full line of models including a four-door hardtop sedan, a unique retractable top convertible, a regular sedan and a two-door hardtop coupe, all in the traditional and elegant design of past Continentals. A new, high compression engine rated 375 horsepower at 4800 rpm powers the new Continental which pioneers an all-new integrated body and frame construction in the fine car field.

6 Lincoln Models To Go On Display

Six models of the 1958 Lincoln kind of performance as the Continental. A new engine is rated at 375 horsepower at 4800 rpm. Torque is rated at 490 pounds at 3100 rpm. Displacement is 430 cubic inches. Improved performance results in part from a compression ratio of 10.5 to 1. Cylindrical, wedge-shaped combustion chambers with larger valve heads and opening areas provide a more efficient power stroke and air-fuel mixture which increases performance and fuel economy.

In each line there is a four-door sedan, a four-door hardtop and a two-door hardtop coupe.

Designers and stylists enhanced the low, and long graceful lines of each Lincoln by complementing each model with the Continental roof line, canted dual headlamps, an extended long, low hood and a wide, sweeping rear deck lid.

Set between the canted dual headlamps is a horizontally-louvered grille with a massive flared bumper across the front. A Lincoln script on the left side of the grille gives the car distinctive identification.

From the side, the Lincoln suggests the classic simplicity of the Continental profile. Along the side is a single strip of chrome which extends from the rear bumper to the middle of the front door. On Premiere models, the end of this molding is highlighted by an eight-pointed star.

The styling theme at the rear matches the front with an oval-shaped horizontally-louvered grille treatment. On either side are integrated tail lights and backup lights set into the grille. The bumper matches the chrome treatment on the lower portion of the rear deck lid which outlines and protects the oval-shaped grille.

The long, lithe silhouette of the Lincoln extends 229 inches in overall length while the overall height is 56.5 inches. Wheelbase has been increased to 131 inches, an increase of five inches over the 1957 models.

The 1958 Lincolns will be built in a plant specifically designed for integrated body and frame construction.

This new method has allowed the designers to lower the height of the car, strengthen its torsional rigidity which resists body twisting effects on rough roads and provides built-in quality.

The floor pan, side panels, roof panels, quarter panel are all provides built-in quality.

The floor pan, side panels, roof panels, quarter panels are all welded into one single unit. Besides the styling inspiration of the Continental, the Lincoln power train will provide the same

School, Town Relationship Is Stressed

OAK RIDGE (Special) — Relationship of the school and community will be stressed during American Education week in Nov. 10-16th. This is a nation-wide week of observance, announced W. P. Smith, school principal.

In the village of Oak Ridge, the school is considered to be the center of activity for the school and citizens are so closely knit that the citizens feel and know that the school is the peoples'. There is a close cooperation between all members of the faculty and parents and others.

Almost all community organizations use the school building as a meeting place. The Lions Club meets twice a month in the cafeteria where they are fed by ladies of the PTA, which organization takes a very active part in all school and community affairs. The Farm Bureau and Coulee Game Refuge use the auditorium as a meeting place as well as the Community Council and several others. In the past, such social affairs as a wedding anniversary luncheon was given in the school.

FFA Cooperate

Through efforts of the Community Council, which is headed by principal of school, W. P. Smith, a summer soft ball league was organized for Oak Ridge with four teams. This proved to be very successful and afforded many hours of entertainment during summer for young and old. The Future

Farmers of America Chapter of the school will cooperate as in the past in the annual rat extermination program and planting of trees in community.

W. P. Smith said that the school is making plans for a full week of activity for American Education week. One of the highlights will be an assembly program which will be given by students. There are plans to decorate the post office window, seventh and eighth grades are planning a radio program and special materials for newspapers are being prepared. Each of the ministers in the community have been contacted about this special week and asked to the group about American Education Week and what it means for sermons. Also W. P. Smith has special bulletin covers for church services. At the next Lions Club a special speaker will talk the week.

Sen. Long Slated To Speak At Lion Winnsboro Meet

WINNSBORO (Special) — Senator and Mrs. Russell Long will be special guests of the Winnsboro Lions Club at their 31st annual Ladies Night banquet scheduled to be held in the basement of the Winnsboro First Methodist church Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

According to William R. Baker, Lion president and D. K. Mayer, co-chairman of the program committee, Senator Long will be the main speaker for the occasion, and following his address, will help clarify confused ideas on national matters with a question and answer period.

Senator Long started his third term as senator in the last session of Congress. During his nine years of service as senator he has served on more than one-half of all Senate committees. He is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, Senate Finance committee, and is the top ranking Democrat on the Small Business committee.

Designers and stylists enhanced the low, and long graceful lines of each Lincoln by complementing each model with the Continental roof line, canted dual headlamps, an extended long, low hood and a wide, sweeping rear deck lid.

Set between the canted dual headlamps is a horizontally-louvered grille with a massive flared bumper across the front. A Lincoln script on the left side of the grille gives the car distinctive identification.

From the side, the Lincoln suggests the classic simplicity of the Continental profile. Along the side is a single strip of chrome which extends from the rear bumper to the middle of the front door. On Premiere models, the end of this molding is highlighted by an eight-pointed star.

The styling theme at the rear matches the front with an oval-shaped horizontally-louvered grille treatment. On either side are integrated tail lights and backup lights set into the grille. The bumper matches the chrome treatment on the lower portion of the rear deck lid which outlines and protects the oval-shaped grille.

The long, lithe silhouette of the Lincoln extends 229 inches in overall length while the overall height is 56.5 inches. Wheelbase has been increased to 131 inches, an increase of five inches over the 1957 models.

The 1958 Lincolns will be built in a plant specifically designed for integrated body and frame construction.

This new method has allowed the designers to lower the height of the car, strengthen its torsional rigidity which resists body twisting effects on rough roads and provides built-in quality.

The floor pan, side panels, roof panels, quarter panel are all provides built-in quality.

The floor pan, side panels, roof panels, quarter panels are all welded into one single unit.

Besides the styling inspiration of the Continental, the Lincoln power train will provide the same fuel supply increase the ease of driving the 1958 Lincoln.

Standard safety features include: safety door latches, deep-dish steering wheel, padded instrument panel, padded sun visors, dual windshield washers and directional signals.

Sen. Long Slated To Speak At Lion Winnsboro Meet

WINNSBORO (Special) — Senator and Mrs. Russell Long will be special guests of the Winnsboro Lions Club at their 31st annual Ladies Night banquet scheduled to be held in the basement of the Winnsboro First Methodist church Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

According to William R. Baker, Lion president and D. K. Mayer, co-chairman of the program committee, Senator Long will be the main speaker for the occasion, and following his address, will help clarify confused ideas on national matters with a question and answer period.

Senator Long started his third term as senator in the last session of Congress. During his nine years of service as senator he has served on more than one-half of all Senate committees. He is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, Senate Finance committee, and is the top ranking Democrat on the Small Business committee.

School, Town Relationship Is Stressed

OAK RIDGE (Special) — Relationship of the school and community will be stressed during American Education week in Nov. 10-16th. This is a nation-wide week of observance, announced W. P. Smith, school principal.

In the village of Oak Ridge, the school is considered to be the center of activity for the school and citizens are so closely knit that the citizens feel and know that the school is the peoples'. There is a close cooperation between all members of the faculty and parents and others.

Almost all community organizations use the school building as a meeting place. The Lions Club meets twice a month in the cafeteria where they are fed by ladies of the PTA, which organization takes a very active part in all school and community affairs. The Farm Bureau and Coulee Game Refuge use the auditorium as a meeting place as well as the Community Council and several others. In the past, such social affairs as a wedding anniversary luncheon was given in the school.

FFA Cooperate

Through efforts of the Community Council, which is headed by principal of school, W. P. Smith, a summer soft ball league was organized for Oak Ridge with four teams. This proved to be very successful and afforded many hours of entertainment during summer for young and old. The Future

Farmers of America Chapter of the school will cooperate as in the past in the annual rat extermination program and planting of trees in community.

W. P. Smith said that the school is making plans for a full week of activity for American Education week. One of the highlights will be an assembly program which will be given by students. There are plans to decorate the post office window, seventh and eighth grades are planning a radio program and special materials for newspapers are being prepared. Each of the ministers in the community have been contacted about this special week and asked that it be included in their topics for sermons. Also W. P. Smith has special bulletin covers for church services. At the next Lions Club a special speaker will talk to the group about American Education Week and what it means to the nation. All parents will receive special written invitations to visit during the week.
